I. Law Schools Sponsoring the Program

Samford University's Cumberland School of Law

Samford University's Cumberland School of Law is one of the oldest law schools in the United States. Cumberland School of Law was founded in 1847 and moved to Birmingham, Ala., in 1961. The law school has become nationally recognized for its advocacy program, center for children's rights, and the use of technology in the classroom. The law faculty is composed of dedicated law teachers and scholars with rich experience gained from judicial clerkships, private practice, government service and corporate America. Located in a thriving financial, legal and medical services center of Alabama, Cumberland School of Law offers students opportunities to pursue a wide variety of academic, professional and social interests. Many students take advantage of the opportunity to broaden their perspectives through summer study-abroad programs and interaction with international attorneys and jurists who study on Samford University's campus in the Master of Comparative Law program.

Cumberland prides itself as a place "where good people become exceptional lawyers," with emphasis on practical education for the practice of law.

Chapman University School of Law

The Dale E. Fowler School of Law at Chapman University is situated on the main university campus in Orange, California, some forty miles southeast of Los Angeles. The student body of approximately 550 is taught by a full-time faculty of more than 45, five of whom are former U.S. Supreme Court judicial clerks. The Law School offers several curricular emphases: Advocacy & Dispute Resolution, Entertainment Law, Environmental & Land Use Law, International Law, Business Law, and Taxation. Students may also opt for the joint J.D./M.B.A. or J.D./M.F.A. (Film & Television Producing) degree programs. Clinical opportunities include the Elder Law Clinic, Family Violence Clinic, U.S. Tax Court Clinic, Mediation Clinic, Entertainment Contracts Clinic, and the Constitutional Jurisprudence Clinic.

II. About Cambridge, England

Cambridge has a 2000 year history. During the first century, the Belgic tribes established the first settlement at the location now recognized as Cambridge. The Belgic settlement achieved strategic significance when the Romans arrived in AD 43. Roman soldiers were stationed at the location, a ford for crossing the River Cam, on the Roman Road connecting Colchester with Chester. Through the centuries the settlement grew from a village to a delightful town. A group of rebel scholars arrived in 1209, having left Oxford after that which applicable history describes as "violent quarrels" with Oxford residents. The first college, Peterhouse, was established in 1284. Sidney Sussex College, our study-abroad residential college and the Cambridge college attended by Oliver Cromwell, was founded in 1596. Sidney Sussex College was built on the site of a Franciscan friary. The contemporary location is in the center of the beautiful and historic city and is truly outstanding. There are 10 museums and galleries within walking distance of Sidney Sussex. Cambridge is truly an excellent location for a study-abroad program. We, the sponsoring law schools, are privileged to offer law students the opportunity to study in Cambridge, as have Milton, Marlowe, Coleridge, Wordsworth and Byron before them.

III. Sidney Sussex College

Sidney Sussex is a very well-kept secret—whether it is our Nobel Prize-winners, Elizabethan brickwork, charming Cloister Court, the haunting Chapel, exquisite rococo Hall, medieval cellars or beautiful ancient gardens—they all lie behind a rather self-effacing wall of Roman cement. Sidney's history is an even better kept secret.

There is, however, a truly fascinating and entirely unexpected history to be told about a small institution which has always punched way above its weight and which lies at the heart of British history. Sidney Fellows and students from 1596 have made a huge impact on all aspects of the nation's culture, religion, politics, business, legal and scientific achievements. It has also found time to produce soldiers, political cartoonists, alchemists, spies, murderers, ghosts and arsonists, as well as, media personalities, film and opera directors, a Premiership football club chairman, best-selling authors, the man who introduced soccer to Hungary, the 1928 Grand National winner and, so they say, Sherlock Holmes. And let's not forget the University Challenge Champions of Champions, 2002. If you wanted to study the history of Britain over the last four hundred years, you could do worse than study the history of Sidney Sussex College, Cambridge.

IV. Program Description

Cumberland School of Law at Samford University, Chapman University School of Law and South Texas College of Law, will conduct the ninth annual study-abroad program at Sidney Sussex College, Cambridge, England, June 28—July 30, 2015. Cumberland School of Law has conducted study-abroad programs in England since 1991, first at the University of Kent in Canterbury, then Collingwood College, University of Durham, England, moving the program to Cambridge in 2006. South Texas College of Law and Chapman University School of Law co-sponsored the Durham program with Cumberland School of Law for several years. In 2014, the Cambridge program included 12 Cumberland School of Law J.D. students, 15 J.D. students from Chapman University, three J.D. students from South Texas College of Law, one J.D. student from Campbell University, and two Cumberland School of Law Master of Comparative Law (M.C.L.) students. Most M.C.L. candidates are judges from Brazil, though other countries may also be represented. Sidney Sussex College is centrally located in Cambridge, convenient to many destinations of interest to students, including transportation by bus and train.

All students take the one-credit first-week course, The English Legal System and European Union: A Comparative Overview. Each student chooses two elective courses (two credits each) for the remainder of the program.

The first week of classes is planned to accommodate a full-day field trip on Wednesday, July 1, to London to visit the Royal Courts of Justice, Middle Temple Inn of Court and Parliament. The program will provide bus transportation to and from London for our visit.

During the second and third week of classes there will be no classes on Friday, July 10, and Friday, July 17, to provide three-day weekends for travel or study. The last day of classes will occur on July 27 and final examinations will be conducted on July 28 and 29 for the elective courses. Students, other than those who make individual arrangements with the program director, should plan to arrive at Sidney Sussex College, Cambridge, on Sunday, June 28 and depart prior to 9:30 a.m. on Thursday, July 30. The program cannot furnish lodging either before June 28 or following our scheduled departure date. A closing dinner will be offered for students and faculty on Monday evening, July 27. A summary calendar of events and class schedule can be accessed here.

Students may anticipate examinations for each course to be comparable to law exams administered in American Bar Association approved law schools in the United States. Exams are handwritten by students. The professor responsible for each course will both write and grade the applicable examination. The 2015 Cambridge program will be limited to a maximum of 25 students if additional lodging cannot be arranged.

The Cathedral in Ely houses a large stained glass museum.

Early registration is encouraged.

Directed Research

Cumberland School of Law offers a unique opportunity for Cambridge program participants to spend June in London studying as a directed research student under the guidance of Barrister Adrian Jenkala. A maximum of four students will be chosen to participate in the directed research program. A minimum of two students must enroll if this program is to be offered. Directed research students will be required to write a paper on a topic of their choice related to UK or European law. Students who are interested in participating in the directed research program should submit to Professor Floyd at mdfloyd@samford.edu, a résumé and a brief narrative describing what they hope to accomplish by doing directed research.

V. ADMISSION CRITERIA

Program participation is limited to law students in good standing at an American Bar Association approved law school, graduates of approved law schools in their country of origin or residence, or members of the Bar. Samford University, Chapman University and South Texas College of Law are Equal Opportunity Institutions and welcome applications for employment and educational programs from all individuals, regardless of race, color, sex, disability, national or ethnic origin.

Cambridge Study-Abroad Application.

VI. APPLICATION PROCEDURES

All applications for admission must be accompanied by a $200 application fee which is non-refundable unless the application is rejected due to full enrollment, lack of sufficient student interest or domestic and/or international instability which is relevant to the program. The application fee will be applied to tuition, once the student is accepted. Deadline for submitting applications is March 2, 2015. Late applications may be arranged with the program director if space allows.

Norwich Castle in Norwich, England, contains period costumes, an art gallery and many ancient artifacts.

The program director recognizes that financial aid for legal studies may not be available until ten days prior to the start of the program; hence, a deferred time-frame for payment, other than the application deposit, is satisfactory if the student has preregistered and informed the program director of an acceptable payment schedule. All applications should be directed to Cumberland's Director of International Studies, Professor Michael D. Floyd, at the address provided on the application form.

VII. ACADEMIC CREDIT

Upon satisfactory completion of the required course work, Samford University will provide transcript information to the other law schools whose J.D. students participate in the program. Application of these credits will be governed by the policies of each student's home school. Each student should check with his or her home school in advance of the program to determine whether and how these credits will be applied toward the J.D. degree. In particular, any student hoping to use these credits to graduate early should carefully check the requirements of his or her home school.

VIII. Refunds, Cancellations or Termination of Programs and Consular Information Sheets

Registered students who withdraw on or before May 15, 2015 will receive a refund of all monies prepaid other than the non-refundable application fee. Students withdrawing after May 15, 2015, and on or before May 29, 2015, will receive a 50% refund of monies prepaid other than the application fee. Students withdrawing after May 29, 2015 will receive no refunds, except in case of bona fide emergency circumstances.

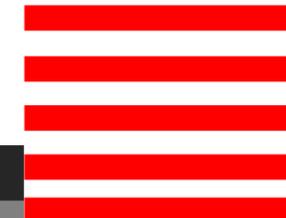

In the event of cancellation of the program for lack of student interest, additional immigration issues, or University concern regarding student safety, the University will utilize maximum effort to refund all monies prepaid, including the application fee, within 60 days after the date of cancellation. The program director will use his best efforts to make arrangements for each student enrolled to attend a similar program, if the student so desires, if cancellation occurs after a deposit has been paid.

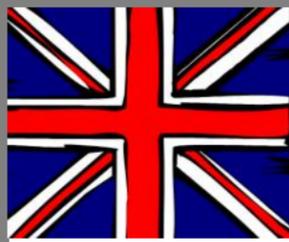

Registered students will be advised of any such program cancellation by e-mail at their address on the application form and first class mail to their home address as indicated on their application for the program.

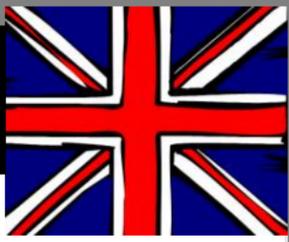

Notwithstanding any information concerning program cancellation and refund policy to the contrary, if the U.S. State Department determines that the country and area of the country in which the program will be conducted is an "area of instability," students will be permitted to withdraw from the program upon learning that the site has been declared to be such. Students withdrawing under such circumstances shall be refunded fees paid except for room and board payments utilized prior to the date the site was declared an "area of instability." The Consular Information Sheet for England, issued by the U.S. Department of State, will be furnished to all students upon registration. An updated Consular Information Sheet will be provided to all registered students if, either prior to the program beginning or subsequent thereto, the program location is determined to be an "area of instability."

If changes occur in the course offerings for which the student has registered or other fundamental aspects of the program, the registered student will be advised by e-mail and given an opportunity to obtain a full refund of all fees paid. Any course that does not have a minimum enrollment of five students will be cancelled.

X. PROGRAM LODGING AND ON-SITE ADMINISTRATION

This study-abroad program will be conducted at Sidney Sussex College, Cambridge, England. Cambridge is located in beautiful central England, a convenient location from which to travel and an ideal location for summer study. The accommodations at Sidney Sussex are modern single en-suite bedrooms, i.e., a single bedroom with private bath, with linens and towels furnished. In-room internet connections are furnished. Classes will be held in a convenient classroom within the residential college. During the 2015 program, Professor Michael D. Floyd will serve as the on-site director. The director will be available for student consultations each class day. The director will also maintain a cell phone for emergency student contact every day, including weekends.

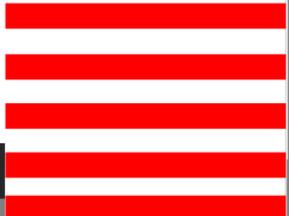

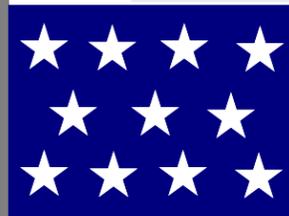

Ely Cathedral, location of the stained glass museum, is located about 14 miles north, northeast from Cambridge.

XI. PASSPORTS AND VISAS

Passports are required for a trip to England. Participating students should obtain their passports at their earliest convenience. Passports may be obtained through contact with the nearest State Department Office or United States Post Office. The UK has recently imposed new and stricter immigration requirements. The program director will provide each student traveling to England a letter explaining the nature of the requirements as they become available. It will be the responsibility of each participant to ensure compliance with the regulations once informed of the process and requirements. Obtaining passports and visas is each student's responsibility.

Students who add the June directed research in London may have significantly earlier deadlines for obtaining the necessary visa.

XII. Transportation

Each student participating in the program will be responsible for arranging transportation to and from England. Airlines provide a variety of reduced fare plans and early booking can create substantial savings. Summer flights to Europe are filled quickly; hence early travel arrangements should be made. Flights from the United States to London typically arrive at either Heathrow Airport or Gatwick Airport. Refer to the following websites for information relating to the two airports and information concerning travel from the airports into London.

Helpful links: www.heathrowairport.com, www.heathrow.co.uk, www.heathrowexpress.com, www.gatwickairport.com, www.gatwick-airport-guide.co.uk, and www.gatwickexpress.com.

Students should pay careful attention to their air carriers' baggage allowances. Some airports also impose stricter carry-on luggage limitations than the airlines. Exceeding these limits can impose substantial extra charges. Information concerning the London subway system can be obtained by going to www.tfl.gov.uk/tube.

Cambridge is about 55 miles north of London. One can take the train to Cambridge from either London's Kings Cross Station or Liverpool Station. The express train ride typically takes 45 minutes from King's Cross and 80 minutes from Liverpool Street. It currently costs approximately 15–25 pounds; however, fares vary widely depending on the time of day. Trains generally depart about every 30 minutes from Kings Cross and 20 minutes from Liverpool Street.

The Tube, London's subway system, is lined with advertisements for current events.

The websites for train information are as follows:

- www.nationalrail.co.uk
- www.britrail.com
- www.raileurope.com

Cambridge is about 55 miles north of London.

BritRail passes may be a convenient, less expensive way to travel in England. Students should obtain a BritRail pass online well in advance of departing the U.S. The reduced rate BritRail pass will not be available in the U.K. and must be mailed to your U.S. address. www.britrail.com

The Cambridge Train Station is south of the city center, slightly more than one mile from Sidney Sussex College. The walk to the city center takes about 20 minutes. There are taxi stands at the train station and a bus leaves for the city center approximately every 15 minutes. Our residential college, Sidney Sussex College, is conveniently located in the city center. More information concerning Sidney Sussex College can be located by going to www.sid.cam.ac.uk.

Refer to the following websites for tourist and travel information about Cambridge: www.visitcambridge.org, www.cam.ac.uk and www.cambridge.gov.uk.

Coach service to Cambridge is also available from London's Victoria Coach Station, Gatwick airport, and Heathrow airport with coaches departing approximately every 1–2 hours. If you decide to take the bus from London to Cambridge, be sure to check the schedule carefully. Schedules, trip duration, and fares can vary widely at different times of day. Refer to the website www.nationalexpress.com for bus schedules and fares. The Cambridge Bus Station is centrally located in Cambridge, approximately 6/10 of a mile from Sidney Sussex College. The stop for coaches to and from Gatwick and Heathrow is at the edge of Parker's Piece in central Cambridge, two blocks from the Cambridge Bus Station.

Stansted Airport (STN) is located 25 miles from Cambridge. This airport is great for travel throughout the UK and Ireland as well as continental Europe. Refer to the website www.stanstedairport.com for additional information about the airport and flights that are available. For information concerning the Stansted Express Train, see www.stanstedexpress.com.

The procession for the changing of the guard begins at the Guard House and travels to Buckingham Palace.

XIII. Faculty

Professor Michael Floyd, program director, is a graduate of Princeton University (A.B., magna cum laude, economics), New York University (M.S., with distinction, accounting), Emory University School of Law (J.D., with distinction, Robert W. Woodruff Fellow, Order of the Coif). He served as a Judicial Clerk for Judge James C. Hill, United States Court of Appeals for the Eleventh Circuit, 1987-1988 before entering private practice with Sutherland, Asbill & Brennan, Atlanta, Ga., 1988-1991. He joined the Cumberland School of Law faculty in 1991. Professor Floyd is a Certified Public Accountant and former banking executive. Read more.

Dr. John Hall teaches International Law, Human Rights, Torts, and Employment Law at Chapman. A native of England, he received a B.A.(Hons.) in American Studies from Sussex University, and a Doctorate in Modern History from Oxford University. For ten years Dr. Hall was a professor and department chair at Albion College in Michigan, where he taught courses in early American and military history. In 1994, Dr. Hall hitch-hiked around South East Asia (as he had previously done around Iran and the Middle-East), and as a result became determined to switch careers and become a Human Rights attorney. Quitting his tenured academic position, he studied law at Stanford Law School, where he received his Juris Doctor in 2000. While at Stanford he became the first student twice awarded the Carl Mason Franklin Prize in International Law. Read more.

Professor Adrian Jenkala is a graduate of London University (B.S. and B. of Laws), University of Westminster (Diploma in Law), Inns of Court School of Law (Bar Finals) and a member of the Chartered Institute of Arbitrators. He has more than twenty years experience as Barrister with advocacy rights in all of the courts of England and the European Court of Justice. He has taught for several years in Cumberland School of Law's Cambridge and Durham programs, and his involvement in our U.K. efforts is very valuable.

Professor Sarah Ludington is an emerging scholar in the fields of free speech and privacy law. Her recent work examines the implications of tenure for the speech of professors and methods for deterring the misuse of personally identifiable information. Prior to joining the Campbell Law faculty, Professor Ludington taught legal writing at Duke Law School and practiced law in Washington, D.C., and New York. She held two federal clerkships, for Harry T. Edwards of the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit and for Joyce Hens Green of the United States District Court for the District of Columbia. Ludington received her law degree from Duke Law School with High Honors and was inducted into the Order of the Coif. Read more.

XIV. Courses to be Offered (SUBJECT TO REVISION)

The English Legal System and the European Union: A Comparative Overview (1 hour)

Adjunct Professor Adrian Jenkala

This course explores the English Legal System, the role of the judiciary, and the current interface of the English system with the European Union. The course offers students a unique opportunity to understand the practical and academic aspects of the emerging constitutional basis for the European Union and its effects on the English system of justice. This course serves as an introductory orientation to the legal environment of the UK, and its relationship to the European Union, in order to provide perspective for the other comparative and international courses that will comprise the remainder of students' time in Cambridge.

Law of the European Union (2 hours)

Adjunct Professor Adrian Jenkala

This course is designed to further students' understanding of the European Union (EU) and its legal system. Topics include a review of the essential history and institutions; comparisons to other similar organizations (NAFTA, MERCOSUR, the African Union, ASEAN, and the WTO); the relationship between the law of the European Community and the law of its member states; the four freedoms; and significant substantive initiatives including the Lisbon Treaty. Students gain familiarity with the European Union (EU), its institutions, its legal and administrative structure, and its relationships with its member states. Students learn the overarching principles that govern EU law and develop facility in interpreting and understanding EU pronouncements.

International Banking Law (2 hours)

Prof. Michael Floyd

The risks and consequences of financial institution failure have been worrisome for centuries, in varying degrees. These concerns have been particularly acute since 2008 because of the increasingly complex interconnections among banks and related financial institutions, the worldwide scope of many of these entities, and the concern that some have become "too big to fail." This course explores the regulatory framework for banks within and across national borders. Following an overview of the role of financial intermediaries in national and international commerce, the course will explore various topics including national and international supervision of banking, capital adequacy and lending issues, and privacy/secretcy requirements. Students will gain an understanding of the importance and nature and various approaches to bank regulation, and will gain experience and facility in interpreting and applying various statutory and regulatory codifications of these regimes.

International Law of Art, Cultural Heritage, and Antiquities (2 hours)

Dr. John Hall

Art law has become a recognized area of legal practice, with employment available for trained lawyers representing public and private cultural organizations, auction houses, museums, banks, and libraries, amongst others, as well as artists and publishing houses. This course will provide students with an overview of the legal issues relating to art, cultural heritage, and antiquities. Students will gain an understanding of the various relevant markets, institutions, services, and transactions around the world. Students will gain an appreciation of the applicable legal doctrines and regulations, and the rationales behind them. Specific topics will include artists' rights; the role of copyright law domestically and internationally; the complex legal obligations of museums; the differing legal approaches to questions of title in Common Law and Civil Law nations; the international trade in stolen and looted antiquities; and how the law and the international community have responded to large-scale theft during conflict and occupation, such as the Nazi looting of art during the Holocaust.

Comparative Data Privacy Law (2 hours)

Prof. Sarah Ludington

In today's global economy, multinational businesses use and transfer personal data across international borders to facilitate global operations. This course provides an overview of data privacy laws in the context of evolving business practices and consumer expectations, with a focus on the U.S. and EU privacy frameworks and the foundational cases and statutes from both jurisdictions. Course participants will also develop an understanding of the self-regulatory mechanisms that have developed to enable businesses to use and transfer data while complying with these laws. The course also explores the challenges governments and industry face developing and applying privacy laws as technologies evolve and data collection expands. Participants will discuss stakeholder views on current privacy challenges and consider how these might be addressed in ways that enhance consumer trust, enable innovation and facilitate trade.

XV. MATERIALS FOR COURSE OF STUDY

Information concerning casebook materials for courses offered will be available in sufficient time to allow some preparation by students prior to the summer semester. Individual students who wish to have course materials for early preparation should request the necessary information from the program director. Students should purchase their casebooks before leaving the U.S. and bring those to Cambridge.

XVI. RESPONSIBILITY AND MODIFICATIONS

The sponsoring law schools will not be responsible for personal injury, medical expenses, loss or damage to personal property, or changes in immigration requirements. Students must have medical insurance coverage which applies to foreign travel covering sickness and accidental injury, medical evacuation and repatriation. Proof of the requisite insurance must be submitted to the program director prior to May 8, 2015. If deemed desirable, students may also wish to purchase insurance covering loss or damage to personal property and trip cancellation.

The closing dinner at Cambridge is the last chance for the students to be together as a group. During the summer 2013 program, this was held in the Old Library at Sidney Sussex College.

Students are expected to turn in all registration forms well before arriving in Cambridge. A fee of $100 will be charged to the student's account if registration materials are not turned in by June 2, $200 if not completed by June 15, and $500 if not all completed by June 26. Any student who fails to complete all required registration materials and forms by June 27 is subject to dismissal from the program without refund of tuition or fees.

The sponsoring schools reserve the right to change any aspect of the program which circumstances make necessary or desirable. Participants will be notified promptly of material changes or cancellation of the program.

“The Cambridge program was one of the best experiences of my life. Students and professors have the opportunity to interact in a way that is not possible in the normal law school classroom setting. Since the professors and students are from all over the world, we received a different outlook in classes. I met so many people that I would otherwise never have had the privilege of meeting. I left with new best friends. Cambridge is such a beautiful, picturesque city. There is so much history there, and it really enhances your educational experience. I cannot say enough wonderful things about the program, and I highly recommend that any student participates if he or she has the opportunity to do so. I wish I could go again next year!”

XVIII. Cambridge Testimonials

Ann Mathew
South Texas College of Law/Houston

“This was my first time studying abroad and it has been amazing. It was a great way to not only experience Cambridge, but to meet people from Alabama, California, North Carolina, and even Brazil. It was great to make new friends from so many different places and to have the opportunity to learn from each other. I am happy to say that I will be returning to Texas with new friends. This program has been socially, culturally and educationally enriching in ways beyond what I imagined. Also, the opportunity to take classes with students from other law schools, as well as judges from other countries, was invaluable and a once in a lifetime experience. All in all, my experience in Cambridge was eye-opening and life-changing on a number of levels. For me, this program has helped broaden my interests and pushed me to try new things. The experiences I have had here are ones that can never be replaced. It has been one of the most memorable summers of my life.”

Alyson Tofukuji
Chapman University School of Law

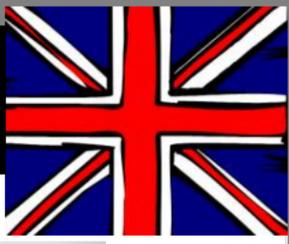

“I had the opportunity to study in Cambridge the summer after my 1L year and it was one of the greatest, most memorable summers of my life. The classes I took were unique and interesting, and getting to share each class with students from other law schools as well as judges from other countries was an invaluable, once in a lifetime experience.

The field trip to London offered us a firsthand look at how the legal system operates in another country, which was the perfect way to see our European Union Law class come to life. Not only did the program offer ample time to explore the beautiful city of Cambridge and learn about the rich history of the University, we also toured other cities and even other countries on the weekends. I made lifelong friends with my classmates and professors and would do the whole program again in a heartbeat.”

London is only 55 miles south of Cambridge. Many study-abroad students use their free time to travel to London and other places around Europe. Pictured above and at right are some of London's many attractions.

Westminster Abbey is one of the most notable religious buildings in the United Kingdom. In 2011, Prince William, Duke of Cambridge and Catherine Middleton, Duchess of Cambridge were married here.
