

Credit is awarded for Higher Level (HL) exams with a minimum score of 5. A minimum of 21 credits is awarded by Chapman University for a combined total of 30 points or higher, earned for the IB diploma.

Only official documents received directly from the International Baccalaureate Organization are accepted by Chapman University for credit evaluation.

Special Note for Pre-Med Students: Not all medical schools accept Advanced Placement scores to satisfy admission requirements. For that reason, pre-med students are urged to meet with their advisor to select the appropriate course work. Those medical schools that do not accept high school Advanced Placement courses in biology, chemistry, physics, calculus, and English require that prerequisite coursework in these areas be taken at a college for a letter grade.
