Fall 2013 Resume Book – Add Your Resume Starting Tuesday 10/8 at 9:00 a.m.

The Fall Resume Book is back! As part of our on-going efforts to support Fowler Law School students in their job searches and career development, the CSO is compiling a Resume Book for both current students and graduates. Bid now to include your resume in Fowler Law School's very own e-Resume Book. This electronic book of resumes, indexed by class level, will be sent to approximately 5,000 employers. In the past, several students have received interviews and job offers through the Book, so we encourage you to participate.

In order to participate in this semester's book, please do the following:

1. Fill out and submit a Release Form & Participation Agreement.
   This can be accomplished in one of the following three ways:
   - Copy and paste the text of the waiver into an email, sign it electronically (/s/ Your Name), and send it to Joan Seguin from your Chapman email account (Note: It must be from your Chapman email account so that we can authenticate your identity);
   - Print and sign the Release Form & Participation Agreement, then scan and email it to Joan Seguin; or
   - Stop by the Career Services Office to sign a Release Form.
2. Log on to Symplicity and go to the "OCI" tab.
3. Select the "Fall 2013 Resume Book" session.
4. Upload your most recent resume and bid/apply.

The deadline to upload is Tuesday, October 15 at 9:00 a.m.

Note: The distribution list for the Resume Book is quite extensive. In addition, recipients of the Book may further distribute it to their contacts. This means that a large network of employers may see the Book and your resume in it, thereby diminishing the confidentiality of your search. If you are currently employed and do not wish your employer to know you are seeking employment, please consider this before including your resume in the Book, as we cannot provide assurances that your current employer will not see the Resume Book.

If you have any questions, please contact Joan Seguin.

Finding Food Made Easy - http://HungryPanther.com

In a perfect world, law students would be able to nourish their bodies exclusively by photosynthesizing artificial light and never have to sacrifice valuable time pondering the age-old question of, "What do I eat today?" Alas, where evolution has failed us, Shaun Sanders (2L) has developed a convenient solution: HungryPanther.com. HungryPanther.com visually plots every eatery near campus on a map. Click on a point to reveal the eatery's name, contact information, and a direct link to their Yelp reviews and menu

(hours of operation and student discount info coming soon!). Looking for something specific? Filter the results by food type! Visit http://HungryPanther.com today and inject a little variety into your day-to-day meal breaks. Send all comments, suggestions, requests, and feedback to me@shaunsanders.com.

Doors In The Student Lounge

The law school appreciates your cooperation and continuing assistance in helping to keep our law school safe and secure. Please do not prop open the doors in the student lounge after hours or during the weekends. The doors are set to sound an alarm in our Department of Public of Safety necessitating the dispatch of an officer when there is no real need. Your student identification card has been coded to allow you access to the building during the hours that the Rinker Law Library is open. If for some reason you cannot access the building with your card, please email Miguel Viveros, our facilities coordinator, at viveros@chapman.edu with your name, year in school, and student identification number and we will investigate your problem further. You can also call the number on the back patio sliding doors for the law library. The library staff is happy to assist you in letting you into the building to use the library. If you have any questions or concerns about building security, please see Dean Kacer. If you see any suspicious behavior while on campus please contact Public Safety immediately at (714) 997-6763. If it is an emergency, please call 911 from your cell phone. Calling 911 from a phone at the school will redirect you to Public Safety.
