Course Number: HON 216-01
Course Title: Twilight of the Gods
Credits: 3

Prerequisites: Formal acceptance in the University Honors Program

Course Description
This course examines the history of thought on agnosticism, atheism, and skepticism by studying a comprehensive selection of writings from some of the most celebrated thinkers in the West, past and present.

Restrictions: Students formally admitted into the University Honors Program or permission of course instructor and Director of Honors.

Learning Outcomes
1. GE 7VI Learning Outcome: Articulates how values and ethics inform human understanding, structures, and behavior.
2. Honors Program and Course Learning Outcomes
   a. To provide a starting point for integrative exploration of the development of cultures and intellectual achievements from a variety of disciplinary and interdisciplinary perspectives.
      ▪ This course introduces basic reasons for questioning beliefs about the existence of ultimate reality.
   b. To help students develop the ability to critically analyze and synthesize a broad range of knowledge through the study of primary texts and the encouragement of active learning with fellow students, faculty, and tests (broadly understood).
      ▪ This course explores some possible ontological, cosmological, anthropological, and ethical consequences of questioning beliefs about ultimate reality.
   c. To help students intentionally apply more integrative and interdisciplinary forms of understanding as they engage advances in knowledge and deal with dramatic challenges shaping the world.
   d. To help students develop effective communication skills, specifically in the areas of written and oral exposition and analysis.
      ▪ Through this course students are to articulate, before the seat of reason, their own reasoned positions (theistic, atheistic, or agnostic) on the question of ultimate reality and other attendant beliefs.
Course Content
Classical statements of disbelief and uncertainty on the existence of ultimate reality will be critically studied. These statements, which come from writers in various disciplines, will be considered in light of questions such as, ‘Does the universe have a beginning?’, ‘What is the meaning of life and death’, ‘What is the basis of morality?’, ‘Is ultimate reality necessarily an illusion?’, etc.

Required Texts

Suggested Texts
2. Suggested DVD’s for viewing: (a) A Brief History of Disbelief; (b)The Atheism Tapes; (c) The Four Horsemen

Instructional Strategies
1. The class will include both lectures and discussions. The main purpose of lectures will be as aids for discussion. Lectures will be used to establish the historical context and theoretical framework of our readings so as to enhance in-class conversations. (Learning Outcomes 1 and 3)
2. Students are expected to arrive at their own conclusions about the issues, to be able to give reasons for those conclusions, and to sympathetically understand why others might disagree. (Learning Outcome 4)
3. Students are expected to further develop the art of conversation. Conversation requires active listening – that is, openness to what others have to say, asking questions, risking opinions, and the willingness to engage in the back-and-forth of open-ended dialogue. Such conversations are essential for understanding and civility in a pluralistic world. (Learning Outcomes 2 and 4)

Course Requirements
1. Class Attendance: Class attendance is required. You are expected to attend all class meetings and to have assignments prepared when they are due. More than three absences will result in zero points for class participation. Each absence beyond that will result in a 5% deduction from your possible semester grade.
2. Class Participation: Participation does not mean mere presence in the classroom. Instead, it means active listening – that is, the willingness to engage in the back-and-forth of open-ended and reasoned conversations by being open to what others have to say, risking our opinions, asking questions, and surfacing disagreements. Such “active listening” is essential to being a community of scholars.
3. Laptops and Other Communication Devices: Please note that laptops and other communication devices can only be used during review and presentation days. On all other days their use is not allowed during class.
4. Reading Assignments: You are asked to study carefully all required readings by the day on which they appear on the projected course schedule. It is important to note that you are asked not merely to read all assigned materials but to study them. Such study may require several readings of the material.

5. Class Time: Class meetings will be, for the most part, a mixture of lecture and discussion. All class meetings will allow time for your questions.

6. Notecards – 10% of semester grade:
   - In order to aid class discussion of materials read for class, you are required to place a notecard in the appropriate folder on Blackboard by 11:59 p.m. the Saturday night before the discussion of upcoming week’s assigned materials.
     - On the notecard, you are to do two things: (1) in the first part, you are to write at least important questions which you have about the assigned reading materials for the upcoming week; and, (2) in the second part, you are to write a short response to the prior week’s classes – for example, you may write about something important you learned, about a critical reaction to something said in class, or about an issue that you would like the class to revisit.
     - A “Turnitin Assignment” folder exists for each day that cards are due. Please be sure to write you name on the cards as well as the date. Cards are to be place in the assigned “Turnitin” folder by 11:59 p.m. on the Saturday night before the week’s classes in which there are readings. Late cards are not accepted.

7. Exams: There will be three in-class exams during the semester. Review questions will be distributed at least one week prior to each exam.

8. Final Paper:
   a. You are to write a thorough and well-reasoned paper (7-10 pages long) entitled “This I Believe” in which you will take a position on religion. You are to address this paper to the thinkers we read during the semester.
   b. This paper is to be both academic (i.e., addressed to scholars in the disciplines found at any university) and personal.
   c. By 11:59 p.m. on May 3, 2016 you are to place a digital copy of your paper in the Blackboard “Turnitin Assignment” folder for this course.
     - During the final week of classes (May 4-10) an optional social will be organized during which students will present and discuss their papers.

Chapman University Academic Integrity Policy
Chapman University is a community of scholars which emphasizes the mutual responsibility of all members to seek knowledge honestly and in good faith. Students are responsible for doing their own work, and academic dishonesty of any kind will not be tolerated anywhere in the university.

Chapman University Students with Disabilities Policy
In compliance with ADA guidelines, students who have any condition, either permanent or temporary, that might affect their ability to perform in this class are encouraged to contact the Office of Disability Services. If you will need to utilize your approved accommodations in this class, please follow the proper notification procedure for informing your professor(s). This notification process must occur more than a week before any accommodation can be utilized. Please contact Disability Services at (714) 516-4520 or www.chapman.edu/students/student-health-services/disability-services if you have questions regarding this procedure, or for information and to make an appointment to discuss and/or request potential accommodations based on documentation of your disability. Once formal approval of your need for an accommodation has been granted, you are encouraged to talk with your professor(s) about your accommodation.
options. The granting of any accommodation will not be retroactive and cannot jeopardize the academic standards or integrity of the course.

Chapman University Diversity Policy
Chapman University is committed to fostering learning and working environments that encourage and embrace diversity, multiple perspectives, and the free exchange of ideas as important measures to advance educational and social benefits. Our commitment and affirmation are rooted in our traditions of peace and social justice and our mission of producing ethical and responsible global citizens. The term diversity implies a respect for all and an understanding of individual differences in age, class, disability, ethnicity, gender, language, national origin, race, religion, sexual orientation, and socioeconomic status.
