

Julia Sirkin

BFA Film Production

Mentor:
Shira Klein

Beckman 212

The First Ladies of the two World Wars, Edith Wilson and Eleanor Roosevelt, took opposite approaches to the global stage. Expected to fulfill the role of traditional hostess, each made strong choices about their public image that affected all women who served after them.