

Gigi Vujovich

BA Environmental Science

Mentor:
Marisa Cianciarulo

Beckman 213

The United States has a system in place to provide humanitarian relief to people fleeing persecution in their country of origin. Once they arrive, however, many must face persecution again by the country that has promised to protect them. What are the origins of this hypocritical system? Are there alternatives?