

COST & BILLING

Students on a semester study abroad are billed Chapman tuition, (sometimes) room, (sometimes) board, and a $500 study abroad fee. For Travel Courses and international internships, participation fees vary by program and do not include Chapman tuition. Free tuition during Interterm and a One-Time Tuition Waiver for Summer may be available. Students usually are responsible for travel costs as well as personal expenses. Some programs include free airfare. Budget worksheets are available at the Center for Global Education.

FINANCIAL AID & SCHOLARSHIPS

Semester abroad programs fall under one of two categories of financial aid applicability:

Semester Abroad All Current Aid Programs: Students can utilize all financial aid, including federal (except work study), state, and institutional scholarships.

Semester Abroad Federal and State Only Programs: Students can apply ONLY federal (except work study) and state aid but not institutional funding.

Travel Courses and International Internships: Financial aid available on a case-by-case basis.

A list of scholarships by location, program, financial need, diversity, and other factors is available at Chapman.edu/CGEscholarships

ACADEMICS

Students earn Chapman credit on all programs and letter grades for most programs. For semester abroad programs, students take full-time credits. Courses are subject to credit approval from the Office of the University Registrar and academic department and are pre-approved prior to departure. GE credit approval is required by the GE committee prior to departure.

NEXT STEPS

Attend a Global First Steps session to learn more about the programs recommended for your major. Register at Chapman.edu/CGE.

Find more program details on the Global Gateway (studyabroad.chapman.edu).

Semester abroad applications are due two semesters prior to going abroad. Travel Course applications are due in March for summer programs and October for Interterm programs. Summer international internships applications are due the November prior. Specific deadline dates will be listed at Chapman.edu/CGE
