Chapman University is committed to the highest ethical standards, principles, and policies, which all Chapman University community members are expected to uphold by incorporating these values into their daily University activities, whether they occur on or off-campus.

For the past three years, President Struppa has mandated Ethics Training for all Faculty and Staff. This year, the Office of Institutional Compliance has developed a brand-new Ethics and Compliance training specifically for Chapman University. This training is specific to Chapman University and will provide information regarding ethics and compliance, recognizing common acts of misconduct, and where to report suspected acts of misconduct.

To access the 2022 Ethics and Compliance Training, please sign into your Canvas account at <https://canvas.chapman.edu> using your Chapman credentials. Once inside, check your Dashboard to find the 2022 Ethics and Compliance Training. If you do not see the training, check the Courses tab in the left-hand navigation bar and click "All Courses" to see a list of courses you have been assigned. For technical issues regarding access to Canvas, please file a service ticket.

The training should be completed by September 30, 2022.

The Office of Institutional Compliance constantly strives to instill a broad foundation of ethical conduct and University-wide compliance with relevant policies through education and awareness.

If you have any questions regarding the material or the training, please send your inquiries/comments to compliance@chapman.edu.

Dear Chapman Employee,

You are out of compliance. You have not completed your current Ethics and Compliance Training.

In order to get back into compliance please go to Chapman.com/Training. Because your training has expired, you must input your credentials in order to assess the training.

If you have any questions, please submit your questions to Compliance@chapman.com.

Thank you,
The Office of Institutional Compliance
