General Information

Chapman University's Department of Communication Sciences and Disorders seeks applications for a faculty position in the Department of Communication Sciences and Disorders, Crean College of Health and Behavioral Sciences, beginning August 2019.

The CSD department is fully accredited by the Council of Academic Accreditation (CAA). It is located on the Rinker Health Science campus in Irvine, California, which is home to several graduate health science professional programs, including physical therapy, pharmacy, and physician assistant studies. The campus is distinguished by its innovative research laboratories, teaching and learning technology, and emphasis on inter-professional education, evidence-based practice, and health promotion and prevention. The newly established Institute for Interdisciplinary Brain and Behavioral Sciences on the Rinker campus provides opportunity for interdisciplinary research (<https://www.chapman.edu/research/institutes-and-centers/brain-institute/index.aspx>).

The Rinker campus is strategically located near numerous medical centers in Southern California in the heart of Orange County. Furthermore, we are associated with several centers and school districts that provide services to preschoolers and school-aged children. For more information about the Communication Sciences and Disorders department visit the CSD website (<https://www.chapman.edu/crean/academic-programs/graduate-programs/ms-communication-sciences-and-disorders/index.aspx>).
