

Partnering for the Future:

Designing Teacher Residencies That Are Strategic, Sustainable and Equitable

with Claremont Graduate University & Corona-Norco USD

Overview

- Learn first-hand about how an Educator Preparation Program (EPP) and Local Education Agency (LEA) partnered together to design teacher residency models that meet specific school-level needs including teacher shortages, shrinking demographic divides between students and teachers, and creating equitable and humanizing access to the profession.
- Gain insight into how school leaders are thinking in more innovative ways about growing and leveraging teacher expertise to tackle our student achievement aspirations.
- Attendees will walk away with concrete ideas about how to embark on the design and implementation of your own teacher residencies with your teams and connect with a network of educators who can support this work along the way.
