Hello Panthers,

We wanted to update you on the upcoming housing selection process. As you know, we are planning for the return to campus for the fall semester. However, with a high likelihood that we will need to practice social distancing at the start of the academic year, the University is in planning for different scenarios that will keep students safe in Chapman housing. As such, we need to delay Panther Housing Selection until we have more definitive plans for how we will proceed.

While this is not the news you were hoping for, we believe that pausing our current process will help us avoid redoing selection at a later date. Our goal is to reduce any unnecessary stress and anxiety for you while we plan our return to campus.

Please continue to check your e-mail for updates. We anticipate having more information out to you next week.

Sincerely,

Residence Life and First Year Experience
