

Zine

Can Zines Help to Repair a Broken World?

Making

Thursday, April 30
11:30AM @ Cross-Cultural Center

Join Environmental Studies and SOC 335: Society and the Environment for a lunchtime, sustainability-themed Zine-A-Thon!

Sponsored by Environmental Studies

Has the Anthropocene got you feeling a bit down lately? We'll be gathering and piecing together hopeful stories of positive and lasting change through community-building, transformative education, and mutual aid in times of eco-social crisis. Food, beverages, and zine-making supplies (including fact sheets and reference guides with reasons to be hopeful) will be provided.

In the spirit of collaborative sustainability, you're encouraged to bring your own leftover crafting and other zine-making scrap materials to be repurposed. Come for the zines, stay for the good vibes!

