WILKINSON COLLEGE OF ARTS, HUMANITIES, & SOCIAL SCIENCES
Faculty & Staff Achievements
Dear Colleagues,

I am pleased to share the 2020-21 Faculty and Staff Yearbook, an annual tradition of recording and celebrating scholarly and creative activity within Wilkinson College of Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences. Teaching became our primary concern during the pandemic, and faculty dedicated an enormous amount of time to delivering quality, remote instruction to our students. Nonetheless, as this yearbook attests, our faculty still engaged in a rich variety of creative and scholarly work and our staff made significant operational contributions and improvements to the college.

I would like to thank the Ideation Lab for designing the Faculty and Staff Yearbook. In addition, I want to acknowledge and thank our retiring faculty: Professor Paul Apodaca (Sociology and American Studies), Professor Miriam Hill (World Languages and Cultures), Professor Tekle Woldemikael (Sociology), and Professor Myron Yeager (English) for their years of service to the college and lifelong commitment to excellence in scholarship, teaching, and service.

We have an amazing community of faculty and staff within Wilkinson College, the heart and soul of the university.

Best,

Jennifer D. Keene
Dean, Wilkinson College of Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences

DR. PAUL APODACA
Associate Professor,
Department of Sociology

Paul Apodaca joined Chapman as a full-time faculty member after serving 15 years as an adjunct faculty member. A member of the American Indian Hall of Fame and voted one of the 150 Faces of Chapman in 2011, Dr. Apodaca initiated the American Studies and Cultural Anthropology Minor Degree programs. He worked with the Bowers Museum in Santa Ana as curator in charge of the California History, American Indian Art, and Folkart, and was the Editor of the Journal of California and Great Basin Anthropology for 15 years. He was awarded a Fellowship with the Smithsonian Institution and consulted on the creation and design of the Museum of the American Indian in Washington DC. He served as Board Member for the California Council for Humanities, the Malki Museum Press, and as a grant reader for many private and public agencies. Dr. Apodaca also works with numerous film and television production companies and was a part of a team that won the Academy Award in 1985 for Best Feature Documentary “Broken Rainbow.” He holds the Mary Smith Lockwood National Medal for Education from the Daughters of the American Revolution.
Miriam Hill is an outstanding educator and wonderful colleague. Students and faculty truly appreciated her dedication and passion for teaching, and she provided every student with a personalized education. She was always the first person to arrive in the main office each day, allowing so many students with busy schedules to meet with her when they needed extra help. She never missed a department meeting and always made meaningful and positive contributions to both the Spanish program and the Department of World Languages and Cultures. Miriam is thoughtful and engaging, and her smile will light up a room. Anyone who took the time to engage with Miriam will miss her warmth and her smile. We all wish her the best in all of her future endeavors. She will be missed by all.
Tekle M. Woldemikael is a Professor of Sociology and International Studies who defines his mission in teaching and research as encouraging students to develop critical perspectives through active learning about contemporary social issues. He has conducted research in the US, the Caribbean, Sudan, Ethiopia, and Eritrea with projects on Haitian immigrants, Ethiopian and Eritrean refugees in the US, southern Sudanese migrants in northern Sudanese towns, and the role of ethnicity in nationalist movements and nation-building in the Horn of Africa. Among his published works are the books Belonging: Maintenance, change, and Status Within the Haitian Community in Evanston, Illinois (Shorefront Press), Postliberation Eritrea (Indiana University Press), and the volume New Conversations in Public Sociology (Roman and Littlefield) co-edited with Chapman colleagues. He published numerous academic papers and edited special issues for academic journals including the Journal of Eastern African Studies, Africa Today Journal, and The American Sociologist. Dr. Woldemikael came to Chapman to serve as chair of sociology after serving at several universities in the US and Sudan. He presided over a period of expansion in the faculty, scholarly production, and programs offered by the department.
Dr. Myron Yeager

Professor Emeritus,
Department of English

An extraordinary teacher, scholar, mentor, and colleague, Dr. Yeager began his distinguished career at Chapman University in 1984, earning promotion to Full Professor of English in 2000. After a long, illustrious career, Dr. Yeager was awarded the honor of Professor Emeritus of English. Dr. Yeager excelled as an administrator during his years at Chapman University, serving as Chair of the Department of English (1990-1993); as the founding Director of the Gay and Lesbian Studies Program (1996-2001); and as Interim Director of LGBTQ Studies in Spring 2014 and Spring 2018. Dr. Yeager served with great distinction as Dean of the School of Communication Arts (2001-2007). Generously serving on many councils and committees throughout his years at Chapman University, Dr. Yeager has also devoted himself to the larger profession. He has held leadership positions within the Samuel Johnson Society of the West, serving as president (2005-06) and secretary (2003 to present), and, for the Western Society for Eighteenth-Century Studies, serving on the Executive Board (2000 to 2017) and as co-president (2001-2002). A truly superior and beloved teacher, Dr. Yeager won the Chapman University Excellence in Teaching Award (2015) and the Wilkinson College of Humanities and Social Sciences Excellence in Teaching Award (2013). Students routinely marveled at Dr. Yeager’s knowledge, passion, energy, and enthusiasm. Dr. Yeager has earned the utmost respect and admiration of his colleagues and students.

Staff Achievements

SAMANTHA ARONSON
Administrative Assistant – Religious Studies & Philosophy Departments

Demonstrated a continued commitment to the college and her teammates by supporting the History department in addition to Religious Studies and Philosophy during a challenging remote environment. Samantha’s willingness and drive to improve her departments and take care of her faculty and students are appreciated and commendable.

ASHLEY BLOOMFIELD
Senior Program Assistant – Rodgers Center

Completed 15 information sessions and an intensive “solo hike” course to master the Canvas learning management system, allowing her to support faculty in a remote teaching environment and to assist in the creation of accessible Canvas courses for students. She also worked collaboratively with Tiana Taliep, archivist in the Oskar Schindler Archives, to conceptualize, create and present a virtual tour of the Sala and Aron Samuels Holocaust Library and the Oskar Schindler Archives for prospective students as part of Discover Chapman events.

JESSICA BOCINSKI
Escalette Registrar

Ensured that the Escalette Collection remained visible and relevant through her outstanding work on the Collection’s online presence. Due to her generosity and team spirit, colleagues throughout the college benefited from her expertise in creating online exhibitions. Jessica has also volunteered her time, energy, and expertise to be the Project Manager for our new Engaging the World Series – Environmental Justice. Thank you, Jessica!
ERIN BERTHON
Career Advisor

With an unwavering commitment to our students despite a pandemic, Erin emailed or called every student from Class 2020; she has conducted over 15 workshops, written over nine blogs, conducted more FFC, Club, Senior Seminar class visits than we can count, and pioneered our Instagram efforts particularly for our seniors and alumni. Erin has made sure every student has felt heard and ensured they had a career path, whether that path is an internship or a paid job after graduation. These efforts have increased rates in the following areas: Career Outcomes, Average Compensation, Continuing Education, Employment Outcomes, Experiential Learning, and Relevance Ratings amongst our Wilkinson College Students. Erin’s dedication, passion, and work ethic are commendable!

SAMANTHA DE LA O
Administrative Assistant – English Department

Demonstrated exceptional teamwork by not only supporting the English Department with multiple projects and events but also helping pioneer Wilkinson College’s social media efforts. Thanks to Samantha’s expertise and guidance, WCAHSS now has a significant following on Instagram and Facebook.

MARY DEVLUGT
Administrative Assistant – World Languages Department

Provided exceptional support and dedication to one of Wilkinson College’s largest and most complex departments during a very challenging time. Mary ensured every student and faculty member was supported during the transition to a remote learning environment and provided above and beyond service to the Part-Time Lecturers during the transition to new timekeeping policies. Mary’s ability to make her teammates smile, lend a helping hand, and try any new process thrown her way makes her a valued member of this team!
ALLISON DEVRIES
Manager of Grant Development & Administration

Continues to excel in her role by submitting 22 external proposals and 20 internal proposals this year while engaging with over 80 Wilkinson faculty members. These efforts have equated to a total grant portfolio of approximately $1.3M. Allison demonstrates a dedication and commitment to her position that is commendable. She continues to strive for process efficiencies and improvements and has created a database of faculty research and interests and an impressive Trello Project Management board. Allison developed and now manages our Wilkinson College Twitter presence and has also trained our student Newsletter Editor.

TALISA FLORES
Administrative Assistant – Political Science, Peace Studies & History Department

Continued to demonstrated incredible work ethic and teamwork by volunteering to support two additional departments; Peace Studies and the History Department. In addition to her additional roles, she also ensured that the 2021 Public Policy Conference: Fighting Climate Change was a success; this was especially challenging due to it being conducted virtually. A special thank you also goes to Talisa for showing initiative by creating and implementing a new Student Advisor Program for Political Science; we are excited to see the success of this program!

SARAH GORDON
Director of Operations

Supported staff and faculty in the pivot to remote work and instruction, improved internal staff communications, oversaw staff professional development, re-adjusted internal budgets continually, implemented and communicated new Provost Office policies, created on boarding system for Dean’s Office student workers.
SHANNON HALVERSON
Program Manager - Creative and Cultural Industries

Contributed to CCI students’ well-being by working with each of them on their programming. This is particularly complex as CCI students come from all Colleges and Schools across campus, and CCI is necessarily interdisciplinary. She has also been an active member of the Center’s research and creative activities, contributing to the running of conferences, grant applications, and wider projects.

MARCUS HERSE
Guggenheim Gallery Coordinator

Marcus continued to advance the work and relevancy of the Guggenheim Gallery by curating several exhibits such as the Body Memory - Body Vision: Performance Works. In partnership with the Art Department’s DEI Committee and student gallery assistants, this exhibition presented artists and artist collectives whose practices are vital to furthering diversity, equity, and inclusion. During Fall 2020, together with Dr. Stephanie Takaragawa, they hosted Hostile Terrain 94 (HT94), a participatory art project sponsored and organized by the Undocumented Migration Project (UMP), a non-profit research-art-education-media collective directed by anthropologist Jason De León. Currently, Marcus is partnering with Dr. Justin Walsh to premiere an exceptional body of work, “Interior Space - A Visual Exploration of the International Space Station: Photographs by Paolo Nespoli and Roland Miller.” The photos provide unique insight into the cultural landscape generated by astronauts, scientists, and visitors on the International Space Station. Marcus’s ability to collaborate and develop the gallery during such a difficult time is commendable.
DAVID KRAUSMAN
Graduate Programs Coordinator

Developed and improved essential documentation and processes within our Graduate Programs, including the creation of a standardized set of guidelines and responsibilities within the thesis process, graduate collateral for all programs including a new digitally optimized handbook, creation of a Canvas den for each program, and a new website and thesis tracking database for the college. This was in addition to fostering a collaborative relationship with SMC and training our new student Newsletter Editor.

KRISTEN LAAKSO
Senior Administrative Assistant – English Department

While supporting one of Wilkinson College’s largest departments, Kristen assisted in the training of Samantha De La O in her new role within the English Department while partnering with David Krausman in improving our graduate program processes and systems. A special thank you also goes to Kristen for all of her hard work on creating and streamlining databases within her department.

JESSICA MYLYMUK
Associate Director, Rodgers Center

All of our programs, including multiple major events and educator workshops, were virtual this year. Both the recognition ceremony for the 22nd Annual Holocaust Art and Writing Contest and the Evening of Holocaust Remembrance were events largely created and entirely edited by Jessica. The fact that we had the highest number of international schools participate in the contest this year is due entirely to Jessica’s hard work and constant mentoring of educators around the world. Additionally, Jessica regularly attends virtual meetings of the Association of Holocaust Organizations as well as the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum’s Conference for Holocaust Education Centers (CHEC), providing the Rodgers Center more national visibility.
JEANIE RANDAZZO
Art Department Manager

Continued her dedication to the art department by supporting all faculty and students during the transition to a remote learning environment, a particularly challenging task for art classes. Jeanie also created and streamlined the job descriptions, hiring, and payment structure for lab leads within the Art department, ensuring an efficient and equitable system. A special thank you also goes to Jeanie for her attendance, thoughtful questions, and support of our Engaging the World – Significance of Race Series.

LINDSAY SHEN
Director, Escalette Permanent Collection of Art

Participated in the 2020 Grant Writer’s Boot Camp and has an active grant seeker to fund innovative projects. Dr. Shen is currently managing a $4,750 grant from California Arts Council to support Creativity After Combat, a series of creative arts workshops for veterans. A special thank you also goes to Lindsay for her vision and hard work in curating an art exhibition by the Escalette Permanent Collection of Art in the Wilkinson College Dean’s suite. The works displayed present a meaningful connection to the curriculum and identity of Wilkinson College. Lindsay also demonstrated additional support to our Engaging the World – Significance of Race series by presenting two events; A Source of Self-Regard, a conversation with the artists, and Photographing Black Queer Identities.

MARY SHOCKEY
Development Coordinator

Demonstrated excellent project management and collaboration skills with her work on both of our Engaging the World Series: Significance of Race, and Environmental Justice. Her attention to detail, ability to keep everyone on track, and smile have made Mary a key committee member for this college initiative. In addition, Mary also ensured our college-wide virtual events were successful, and our relationships with our donors continued to prosper. A special thank you also goes to Mary for helping realign our Wilkinson College Faculty Fund!
LAURA SILVA
Web & Blog Content Writer

Provided Wilkinson College with extensive support by developing and improving various aspects of our website, including creating several new web pages such as the Engaging the World Series (Significance of Race and Environmental Justice), Faculty Resource, and Presidential Studies. Laura’s ability to collaborate was demonstrated with her partnership with Department Chairs, Program Directors, and staff to revamp several department and program pages such as the Interdisciplinary and Graduate Programs and a new and improved embedded forms page. Laura also partnered with SMC for an extensive website audit. In addition to her work with the website, Laura created and now manages a team of blog writers who write for our Voice of Wilkinson Blog. In addition to managing the Voice of Wilkinson Blog, Laura showcased her exceptional writing skills by writing over 35 impactful stories covering various topics. Laura’s hard work, can-do attitude, and dedication are greatly appreciated.

STEPHANIE TAKARAGAWA
Associate Dean of Academic Affairs

Co-chaired Engaging the World: Leading the Conversation on the Significance of Race initiative, composed of 30 events over the academic year. Submitted multiple grants to support college initiatives. Coordinated interdisciplinary minors, FFC program, and creation of new Ethnic Studies minor.
TIANA TALIEP
Archivist, Oskar Schindler Archive – Rodgers Center

Began an Oral History Project focusing on Holocaust survivor Jack Pariser. Tiana and Mr. Pariser discuss photographs donated to the Oskar Schindler Archive, and while identifying the people and places in the photos, Mr. Pariser also talks about his experience of hiding during the Holocaust. This is an ongoing project with nine weeks of sessions already recorded. Tiana also worked collaboratively with Ashley Bloomfield, Senior Program Assistant for the Rodgers Center for Holocaust Education, to conceptualize, create and present a virtual tour of the Sala and Aron Samuei Holocaust Memorial Library and the Oskar Schindler Archives for prospective students as part of Discover Chapman events.

GREG WALSWICK
Administrative Assistant – Sociology, Interdisciplinary Programs & History Department

Provided exceptional leadership as the Project Manager for our Engaging the World – Significance of Race series while supporting not only Sociology but also our Interdisciplinary Minor Programs and History Department. Greg’s commitment and outstanding work ethic will be forever appreciated. A special thank you also goes to Greg for showing initiative by creating and implementing a new Student Advisor Program for Sociology; we are excited to see the success of this program!

LENAE WILSON
Senior Administrative Assistant

Managed, developed, and improved multiple processes that provide a strong operational foundation to the college, including a faculty load database, class scheduling, faculty contracts, and faculty governance website updates. Lenae has demonstrated exceptional project management, leadership, and teamwork skills by creating several Trello resource boards allowing for a more collaborative, efficient, and streamlined work environment. Lenae has also been instrumental in ensuring our student workers were onboarded, developed, and supported during a very challenging remote environment.
