

Liberating Stories Of Resistance Across The U.S./Mexico Border

October 24, 4:00 p.m. in AF 209C

FEATURING

DR. MICHELLE TÉLLEZ

*Assistant Professor of Mexican American Studies,
The University of Arizona*

Drawing from her own experience as a transfrontera/transborder scholar and activist, Dr. Téllez will discuss how the U.S./Mexico border must not be seen merely as a site of passage, a crossing line of militarized surveillance and policing, or political boundary. Instead, she argues, the borderlands is also a space of resistance, conviviality, agency, creative community building, and a space where transformative politics can take place.

UNA INVESTIGACIÓN INTERDISCIPLINARIA
LA FRONTERA
THE BORDER
AN INTERDISCIPLINARY EXAMINATION

Sponsored by the Peace Studies and Political Science departments, the Jill Sinclair Fund, the Peace Studies Union, the Schweitzer Institute, the Chapman Feminists, and the Student Government Association.

