Your Chapman Community: A History

In 1861, just 11 years after California became the 31st state, Hesperian College opened in the Northern California town of Woodland. Leaders of the group intentionally timed the college’s opening so that its first classes would be held on the morning of Abraham Lincoln’s presidential inauguration. The school was ahead of its time: open to women as well as men and to students of all races. While that school eventually closed, the assets were soon put to good use by a new venture gaining traction in Los Angeles.

Wilkinson College, in which your graduate program is housed, was founded in 1991 as part of the Chapman College transformation into Chapman University (as well as physically moving several buildings from Los Angeles here to Orange, buildings that still stand today). During the last decade alone, new schools, colleges, and programs have been added. The University has achieved prestigious Phi Beta Kappa status and R2 designation as a Doctoral University with high research activity, and moved into the U.S. News National Universities category, joining the nation’s most well-known institutions.

Today, Chapman University is made up of 11 schools and colleges. Harmon Wilkinson, Wilkinson College’s namesake, and his wife Nadine Wilkinson helped to shape the Chapman value-centered liberal arts experience, providing funding for the chapel, student scholarships, and special events. Wilkinson said in his 1982 address at the Fall Faculty Conference of then Chapman College that to him Chapman “has a soul—has character and purpose.” Wilkinson College’s tagline is The Heart and Soul of Chapman University.

Wilkinson’s distinguished faculty is composed of active scholars, writers, and artists who are renowned nationally and internationally for their academic excellence and contribution to knowledge. Just as important, they are also enthusiastic teachers who take seriously their responsibility of ensuring that our students, whether majors, minors, or graduate students, are prepared for the intellectual, ethical, and professional challenges that a rapidly changing world is going to present.

Dr. Jennifer Keene, Dean of Wilkinson College, writes, “the phrase heart and soul of Chapman University has several meanings for me. First, Wilkinson College is the historic liberal arts core of the university from which all subsequent growth originated. Second, Wilkinson College plays a unique role in the educational journey of every Chapman student due to the centrality of the college in the General Education curriculum. Finally, and perhaps most importantly, the phrase evokes the vital importance and ongoing relevance of the arts, humanities, and social sciences to understanding our world—how we got here, who we are, and where we are going as a society.”
Welcome, a Message from Dr. Lynda Hall & Mark Axelrod-Sokolov

Welcome! Bienvenidos! Yokoso! You have been accepted to the MA Program in English at Chapman University. You have worked hard to get here, and we are here to assist you in your quest to complete your MA or Dual Degree.

The English Department is part of the Wilkinson College of Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences, where our faculty and students are committed to engaging the world and studying our passions. Our MA program offers a wide range of small seminars in literature, rhetoric and composition, cultural studies and digital humanities. We feature literary events that bring national/international authors to campus and literature to life. Whether you are studying contemporary Latinx literature, the novels of Jane Austen, the theory and practice of writing center tutoring, or feminist rhetorics, our courses span multiple genres, critical approaches, and literary and rhetorical traditions.

Beginning with a course in Literary Theory and Critical Practice, your program of study will culminate in the writing of an MA Thesis. Throughout your studies, we encourage you to be attuned to the texts, critical/theoretical debates, and research questions that most excite you. A comment generated in response to a discussion post or a scholarly text that you discover in an endnote might just lead you toward new areas of inquiry and research discoveries. The MA Thesis can build on the scholarly research and projects that you conduct in your coursework; alternatively, if you wish to write a thesis on a topic that is not addressed in your regular coursework, you should plan on taking ENG 599: Individual Study with an appropriate faculty member during one of the semesters before you enroll in ENG 597B: MA Thesis.

We encourage you to read widely and deeply, to write boldly and thoughtfully, and to engage in innovative, interdisciplinary scholarship. We enthusiastically welcome you into the Chapman and English Department community and wish you the very best in your literary and rhetorical studies.

Welcome, a Message from Dr. Anna Leahy

Welcome to the Chapman University MFA in Creative Writing community, where we write boldly, read thoughtfully, and live vibrantly. Together, our students and faculty are here to bring big ideas to life in words and to engage those words with the world. Your professors and your peers will challenge you, and we expect you to challenge yourself too.

In conjunction with the Graduate Catalog and the Graduate Student Handbook, this handbook for students in the English graduate programs is designed to help guide you through the journey to your degree. MFA students begin with ENG 587: Aspects of a Writer, which lays the strong foundation for your writing over a lifetime.

While students must adhere to university policies, the MFA in Creative Writing program is designed to be agile and to encourage you to discover and build your individual strengths. You may arrive here focused on one genre, for instance, but as you work your way through the semesters, you can explore the variety of genres, aesthetics, and faculty expertise represented across the department’s coursework. Stay curious. Try new things. Write something you didn’t think you could write.

Your work in the program culminates in an ambitious thesis project under the direction of a faculty mentor. Defending this book-in-progress serves as an end for your academic journey, but the thesis process is also the beginning of the next stage of your creative life. I encourage you to use your time during this MFA program to establish a trajectory that will get you where you want to go, whether that future is as a publishing author, a professor, a cultural entrepreneur, a grant writer for a nonprofit, or another goal that draws on your creativity, way with words, and critical thinking.

While writing is most often done in isolation, with you at the laptop or pen to paper, an MFA program provides community in which creativity can flourish. Writers tend to be more productive when they spend time with other creative people who encourage novel ways of thinking and who value creative work. The coursework, thesis, event programming, and other opportunities here at Chapman are designed to create a vibrant environment for you as a writer.

Whether creativity thrives here also depends upon you. Share your ideas and your writing. Offer meaningful critique, and cheer each other on. Be open to serendipity. And of course, reach out to me or to the Graduate Programs Coordinator when you have questions or concerns that aren’t addressed in this handbook.

Onward,

Graduate Programs Overview & Sample Timeline

Students generally take three courses (9 units) in the Fall and Spring semesters. Students in the MA or MFA typically finish in two years, or 36 units of coursework over four semesters. Students in the Dual program typically finish in three years, or 54 units of coursework over six semesters.

All graduate students must prepare and defend, under the direction of an individual faculty member, a thesis project of distinction in order to complete their degree(s).

Sample Timeline

This sample timeline is based on a typical student who matriculates in the Fall semester and maintains full-time status, usually 9 credits per semester for four semesters.

First Semester Year 1 (Fall)

- Enroll in the introductory course(s) to your program. For the MA in English this would be ENG 556: Literary Theory and Critical Practice 1920 – Present. For the MFA in Creative Writing this would be ENG 587: Aspects of a Writer. Dual students should enroll in both courses. These classes include an overview of the thesis process and an introduction to graduate faculty who can direct a Thesis.

Second Semester Year 1 (Spring)

- Comparing the course offerings with your program requirements, take any combination of required courses.
- MFA students who plan to defend their thesis the following academic year, in either fall or spring, submit their Thesis Proposal by April 20. Changes to the Thesis Proposal (genre, project, potential director, etc.) can be made as the student drafts the Thesis. The thesis Director may provide a reading list to guide the student during the drafting of the thesis.
- MA and Dual Degree students that wish to enroll in ENG 597B: MA Thesis in the Fall should also submit their Thesis Proposals by April 20.
  - MA students who wish to write a thesis on a topic that is not addressed in the student’s regular coursework must enroll in ENG 599: Individual Study with an appropriate faculty member before enrolling in ENG 597B. Such a preparatory course should be taken before and not concurrently with ENG 597B: MA Thesis. Summers and Interterms are also good times for engaging in the reading and research that will culminate in the MA Thesis.
Third Semester Year 2 (Fall)

- Continue taking coursework to fulfill degree requirements.
- MA and Dual Degree students that wish to enroll in ENG 597B: MA Thesis in the following Spring semester should submit their Thesis Proposals. Changes to MFA Thesis Proposal (genre, project, potential director, etc.) can be made as the student drafts the Thesis. The thesis Director may provide a reading list to guide the student during the drafting of the thesis.

Fourth Semester Year 2 (Spring)

- Take remaining coursework to fulfill degree requirements.

Year 3 & Beyond

- Students in the Dual program typically finish their remaining coursework and second degree by the spring of their third year.
- Sometimes, students take fewer than the average 9-unit course load and spread their remaining classes and/or thesis over multiple years. Students should talk with the Graduate Programs Coordinator or Program Director about these plans. Students have seven years from their admitted term to complete their graduate program.
Program Requirements & Course Policies

Current requirements for the MA, MFA, and Dual degree programs, as well as all courses offered, are included in the Graduate Catalog; this information is not duplicated here in this handbook. Students use the catalog of their year of admission into the program. The student’s individual Program Evaluation in the Student Center is designed to help the student understand degree requirements and track progress toward the degree. Tutorials on how to use the Program Evaluation can be found in the Helpful Links and Tutorials section of this handbook as well as the online Program Dens.

Individual Study

Aligned with Chapman University’s commitment to an individualized education, graduate students in the Department of English have the unique opportunity to work one-on-one with a department faculty member in co-developing a specialized course that can count toward the student’s degree requirements. ENG 599: Individual Study can be taken in a variety of ways, such as continued exploration of an author or topic originally studied in a previous class, the development of a relevant project, or in preparation for the thesis. Each student is allowed to take one ENG 599 course. Students in the dual degree program are allowed to take up to two ENG 599 courses. Before submitting the required form to the Registrar’s Office, a one-page course syllabus/description that focuses on literature and/or language and includes critical writing must be submitted to and approved by the Department Chair.

The deadline to add individual study courses for each term can be found on the academic calendar. A fully approved request must be submitted to the office of the registrar well ahead of that deadline.

Courses from Other Programs

Graduate students in the Department of English have the option to substitute one course taken in another college/department as an elective in the program. This requires prior approval by the Department Chair and is arranged on a case-by-case basis. Before registering for the course, requests for such a substitution should include a statement about the course's relevance to the student's thesis project (or another project related to the degree) and be submitted to the Department Chair and Program Director for approval.

Courses during Summer & Interterm (January)

Graduate students are eligible to take courses in the Summer and Interterm terms. This can include individual study courses, travel courses, and courses from other programs with prior approval by the Department Chair. For non-standard courses, consult with your Program Director and the Graduate Programs Coordinator.
The Master’s Thesis

What is a master’s thesis?

A thesis is a document submitted in support of candidature for an academic degree or professional qualification presenting the author’s scholarly research and findings or the author’s creative work.

A master’s degree thesis in the MA program is related to the type of research paper that one might have completed during college. You are expected to build on the research of others and provide your own analysis and discoveries. It demonstrates your critical and analytical thinking and defines the subject that you are pursuing within your field.

A student who wishes to write an MA thesis on a topic that is not addressed in the student’s regular coursework must enroll in ENG 599: Independent Study with an appropriate faculty member. Such a preparatory course should be taken before and not concurrently with ENG 597B: MA Thesis. Summers and Interterms are also good times for engaging in the reading and research that will culminate in the MA Thesis.

A master’s degree thesis in the MFA program is a significant body of work accompanied by the author’s artist statement. Fiction writers can write a novel, novella, or a collection of short stories. Poetry students will write a collection of poetry. Nonfiction writers may write a memoir or collection of personal essays. With the approval of the MFA program Director and the Thesis Director, a multigenre thesis, a thesis that includes a digital component, or a screenwriting thesis is possible.

Usually the thesis is the capstone project to the program and occurs in the final term of enrollment.
The Thesis Proposal

The role of the Thesis Proposal is to provide a clear, specific idea of your project that will serve as a guide to the reader. A proposal should be an overview of the planned project and should provide specific elements that go beyond a simple project statement. The proposal serves as the foundation of your project and will support the subsequent writing throughout the thesis drafting and revision process.

Each program has their own proposal requirements, outlined below.

All graduate students must have an approved thesis proposal prior to enrolling in the thesis course.

Proposal Approval

By the end of the semester, the Department of English should notify the student in writing that the Thesis Proposal is approved or indicate what revisions are needed before resubmitting. A thesis director assignment is part of that approval.

Thesis Reading List

At the discretion of the Thesis Director, a required or suggested reading list may be given to the student. When readings are assigned, those texts can be used as reference during the thesis course and the defense.
The Thesis Proposal: MA in English

The proposal must include the following components:

- A 250-500 word statement of purpose that outlines the thesis project
- A working bibliography

The MA Thesis Proposal must be submitted directly to the potential Thesis Director. For advice on how to identify a potential thesis director, see the following section: Identifying Potential Thesis Directors.

Faculty-approved proposals are then accepted via the online submission form: https://forms.gle/g7nvKWoQWDpObVPC7

- For the MA Degree, the Thesis Proposal is due the semester before the student plans to enroll in the thesis course. For example, a student who wants to defend their thesis in the Spring term of their second year would submit the proposal in the Fall of their second year.

- MA students that wish to write a thesis on a topic that is not addressed in the student’s regular coursework must enroll in ENG 599: Independent Study with an appropriate faculty member before enrolling in ENG 597B. Such a preparatory course should be taken before and not concurrently with ENG 597B: MA Thesis. Summers and Interterms are also good times for engaging in the reading and research that will culminate in the MA Thesis.

The deadline for MA Thesis Proposals is April 20 for defenses in the following Fall term, or November 20 for the following Spring term, regardless of the day of the week the date falls on.

An example proposal can be found in the Program Den.
The Thesis Proposal: MFA in Creative Writing

The proposal must include the following components:

- Project Statement: A 1-page, double-spaced statement that outlines the thesis project.
- Sample of Work: A complete short story, first chapter of a novel, complete essay, a first chapter of a nonfiction book, or ten pages of poetry. This sample must be intended to be part of the thesis. For other genres, consult with the Program Director before submitting the proposal.
- A list of five possible thesis directors, ordered by preference; do not include in the document that contains the Project Statement and Sample of Work

Proposals are accepted via the online submission form: https://forms.gle/beimR3J3fsi4rYqK7

For the MFA Degree, the Thesis Proposal is due in the Spring semester before the academic year that student plans to enroll in the thesis course. For example, a first-year student who wants to defend their thesis in the Fall or Spring term of their second year would submit the proposal in the Spring of their first year.

The deadline for MFA Thesis Proposals in the following Fall or Spring Term is April 20, regardless of the day of the week the date falls on.

An example proposal can be found in the Program Den.
The Thesis Proposal: Dual MA in English / MFA in Creative Writing

Students in the Dual program typically defend one thesis of their choosing in the spring of their second year, followed by the final thesis in the spring of their third year. Dual students follow the same proposal, deadlines, and enrollment processes outlined for each degree.
Identifying Potential Thesis Directors

Once you’ve identified the broad subject area you are interested in exploring, you should think about who might serve as an appropriate Thesis Director. Graduate faculty members who may serve as Thesis Directors are listed below and can also be found on the Thesis Proposal submission form.

There are several ways to go about considering a potential Thesis Director. One strategy is to consider professors in whose courses you have been or are enrolled. A second strategy is to look at our core faculty and their research interests to see whose expertise your project relates to at least loosely. That said, you need not have taken a class with the faculty you list in the Thesis Proposal, and many faculty work in more than one area. If you’d like additional guidance, you can talk with the Program Director or Graduate Programs Coordinator to brainstorm about who a suitable Thesis Director might be.

For MA theses, the thesis director should come from graduate full-time literature or rhetoric faculty:
Axelrod-Sokolov, Barnard, Dressel, Glaser, Hall, Hudson, Lehnhof, Levin, Magosaki, Osborn, Read-Davidson, Rivera, Ruppel, Van Meter

For MFA theses, the Thesis Director should come from the full-time creative writing faculty:
Axelrod-Sokolov, Bausch, Blaylock, Glaser, Kozameh, Leahy, Lewis, Zoellner

The Department of English will assign students to a particular Thesis Director based upon faculty time commitments, expertise, and the consent of the Department Chair, in addition to the student’s preferences. While you are encouraged to talk with faculty about your planned thesis project as you are developing your Thesis Proposal, individual faculty cannot commit to direct a given thesis.
Enrolling in the Thesis Course

Only after the successful submission and approval of a Thesis Proposal, the Department of English will contact the student via their Chapman University email with instructions on how to register for in ENG 597B: MA Thesis or ENG 597A: MFA Thesis.

Each thesis student receives their own section of a thesis course for enrollment. These sections are created specifically for each student only after an approved Thesis Proposal.
Thesis Requirements & Formatting

Questions about the thesis guidelines should be addressed to the Program Director, the Chair of the Department of English, or the Graduate Programs Coordinator. Questions about an individual thesis-in-process should be addressed to the Thesis Director.

MA Thesis Requirements

- Enrollment in ENG 597B: MA Thesis. During the semester in which the student intends to complete and defend the Thesis (usually the last semester of study), the student must enroll in ENG 597B: MA Thesis with their individual Thesis Director. During registration, students should consult the instructions emailed to them by the Department of English in order to enroll.
  - Students who have completed ENG 597B: MA Thesis without defending or submitting their thesis must be enrolled in thesis continuation, ENG 598B - MA Thesis II. Students are required to be enrolled in order to defend, submit their thesis to the library, and have their degree conferred.

- The thesis should be between 6,000 and 14,000 words, not including endnotes and bibliography. The appropriate length will be determined in consultation with the Thesis Director.

Additionally, the Thesis must demonstrate the following MA Program Learning Outcomes:

- The ability to situate the projects within broader historical, critical, social, cultural, and/or philosophical contexts.
- A writing style free of major mechanical errors that enables the presentation of ideas and evidence at a high scholarly level.
- An in-depth knowledge of key critical and/or theoretical debates relevant to the topic.
- Attention to relevant literary movements and genres if writing about literary texts.

The MA Thesis Assessment Rubric will be used to evaluate all thesis projects according to these learning outcomes as part of program assessment.

With the permission of the Chair of the Department of English and the MA Director, students can develop alternative Thesis Projects, including Digital Humanities Projects.
MA Thesis Format

Short Link: https://chapman.libguides.com/dissertations

The thesis formatting guidelines are available at Leatherby Libraries as the MA/MS Thesis Checklist. Adherence to the library’s formatting guidelines is mandatory. However, for an MA Thesis some guidelines are optional; check with the library’s Dissertations and Theses Librarian with any specific questions about formatting.

MFA Thesis Requirements

• Enrollment in ENG 597A: MFA Thesis. During the semester in which the student intends to complete and defend the Thesis (usually the last semester of study), the student must enroll in ENG 597A: MFA Thesis with their individual Thesis Director. During registration, students should consult the instructions emailed to them by the Department of English Senior in order to enroll.
  o Students who have completed in ENG 597A: MFA Thesis without defending or submitting their thesis must be enrolled in thesis continuation, ENG 598A: MFA Thesis II. Students are required to be enrolled in order to defend, submit their thesis to the library, and have their degree conferred.

• Creative Work & Page Ranges:
  o Fiction: A collection of short stories, novella(s), or a novel-in-progress of 150-250 pages.
  o Poetry: A collection of poems no fewer than 48 pages and no more than 80 pages; each poem begins on a new page.
  o Screenplay or Stage Play: A screenplay or stage play of 90-120 pages. Screenplay or stage play requires approval at the time of the proposal.

• Artist Statement: 7-10 pages at the end of the document. This statement should contextualize the creative work, examine the aesthetic approach, and/or discuss thematic or formal aspects of the work. Assigned or suggested reading may inform this statement.

• If the Thesis is a novel or nonfiction book for which the total pages represent a partial draft, the Thesis should include an outline for the remaining portion of the project; such an outline is in addition to the existing page ranges for the genre. Collections of stories, poems, or essays should be complete.
MFA Thesis Format

Short Link: https://chapman.libguides.com/dissertations

The thesis formatting guidelines are available at Leatherby Libraries as the MFA Thesis Checklist. Adherence to the library’s formatting guidelines is mandatory. However, for an MFA Thesis some guidelines are optional; check with the library’s Dissertations and Theses Librarian with any specific questions about formatting.
MFA Thesis Assessment

The MFA Student Learning Objectives will be used to assess the MFA program based on thesis projects. Students may find it helpful to keep these outcomes in mind while writing and revising the thesis, but they are not grading criteria. A learning outcomes rubric is completed by the Thesis Committee at the conclusion of the defense.

The Thesis Director (with input from the committee and the defense conversation) is asked to consider the thesis via specific learning outcomes in relation to the following practical questions: Is this manuscript ready to send to an editor or agent? Who cares about the Work? Is this thesis eminently readable? How does this thesis matter? What’s the effect this thesis has? Finally, the director is asked to gauge the Degree of Difficulty of the project itself.

Theme One: Is this manuscript formatted according to thesis guidelines just as a manuscript would need to be formatted properly to send to an editor or agent?
  - Does the student demonstrate the ability to understand and adhere to professional guidelines for book-length manuscripts?

Theme Two: Who cares about the Work?
  - Does the thesis proficiently cultivate subject matter in relation to an audience?

Theme Three: Is this thesis eminently readable?
  - Does the thesis employ proficient sentence-level skills, including appropriate grammar, syntax, vocabulary?

Theme Four: How does this thesis matter?
  - Does the thesis have something important to contribute to the larger literary culture?

Theme Five: What’s the effect this thesis has?
  - Does the thesis make internal sense through techniques appropriate for the genre and project?
Expectations & Responsibilities: Thesis Student, Director, & Reader

Student

Good mentoring practice entails responsibilities not only of the Thesis Director but also of the student. When a student enters a master’s program, that student commits time and energy necessary for a thesis or thesis project that makes a substantial and original contribution to knowledge. It is the responsibility of the student to conform to University and program requirements and procedures. Although it is the duty of the director to be reasonably available for consultation, the primary responsibility for keeping in touch rests with the student. The student’s responsibilities include the following:

- Become familiar with and adhere to the rules, policies, and procedures in place in the graduate program and the University as outlined in available resources such as graduate student handbooks, web resources (Canvas), catalog, and other University policies.
- Know and follow the rules and policies of the University, including all deadlines regarding registration, leaves of absence, limitations on time, thesis submission, and graduation.
- Select and plan an original scholarly or creative project that can be successfully completed within the expected time frame for the degree program.
- Prepare a work plan and timetable in consultation with the director as a basis for your remaining time in the program, including any proposed reading or other preparation.
- Learn and adhere to responsible standards for your field and University standards.
- Meet with the director when requested and report regularly on progress.
- Begin the thesis semester with a complete or near-complete draft of your thesis so that your focus can be on revision.
- Keep the director informed on any significant changes that may affect your progress.
- Establish a thesis committee, in consultation with the director, early in the thesis semester.
- Schedule the Thesis Defense, after coordinating with all committee members.
- Keep the thesis committee Readers informed of the progress of the thesis and circulate a final or near-to-final draft no fewer than two weeks prior to the thesis defense. In consultation with the Thesis Director, earlier drafts may also be shared with Readers.
- Submit the Thesis to the library.
Within the context of the role as Thesis Director, a faculty member’s primary task is to guide and inspire students to reach their scholarly and/or creative potential. At the same time, each director must try to ensure that each student is following the rules and policies of the University. Students registering for graduate thesis credits pursue a project under the direction of a thesis or project director. The director should promote conditions conducive to a student’s research, intellectual, and creative growth and provide appropriate guidance on the process and the standards expected. The director (who is instructor of record for thesis credits) should meet with the student a minimum of five times, inclusive of the thesis defense. Additionally, the Thesis Director’s responsibilities include the following:

• Establish a meeting pattern or regular conversations to mentor the student and meet the University’s credit requirement. Meetings might include but need not be confined to discussion of the thesis process and guidelines, assigned readings, planned research or writing, challenges the student faces, feedback on drafted pages, and the student's career plans.

• Guide the student in planning a thesis project that can be successfully completed within the expected timeframe for the program.

• Help the student establish a realistic timetable and work plan for completion of various phases of research, writing, revising, and defending.

• Provide advice and feedback, including a realistic timeframe for receiving feedback. Feedback should be professional and constructive and provide concrete guidance for improvement.

• Ensure that students have an understanding of relevant theories and methodological and technical skills necessary for completing the project, including standards and ethical practices for your field.

• Establish with the student a thesis committee early on in the thesis semester.

• Make arrangements to ensure continuity of student supervision during a leave or an extended period of absence.

• Help maintain a learning environment that is safe, equitable, and free from harassment and discrimination.

• Remain attuned to academic needs and concerns that may arise for international students, students from underrepresented groups, students with disabilities, and students with family responsibilities.

• Communicate in a timely manner if the student’s academic performance is not meeting expectations. Provide an outline and timeline for what actions need to be taken in order to meet expectations. While dealing with inadequate academic performance can be difficult, it is in no one’s best interests to prolong a program of study if success is unlikely.

• Complete or sign necessary forms, including the assessment rubric and the library’s formatting checklist, both of which should be done at the end of the defense. Serve as an advocate for the student in navigating University policies and work with the Graduate Programs Coordinator in supporting student success.
Students sometimes experience personal difficulties. These can include family difficulties, problems in personal relationships, cultural adjustments, financial pressures, medical issues, and problems associated with employment. The importance of these various problems should not be underemphasized. Thesis Directors should not act in a counseling capacity with their students, nor should they intrude into the personal lives of their students with unwanted advice. However, directors should try to ensure that their relationships with students are such that students will be comfortable telling their director when they are having significant difficulties so that timetables can be rearranged and referrals made to appropriate campus resources. The Program Director and Graduate Programs Coordinator can provide information and guidance to directors and students.

Reader

The Thesis Director often recommends a specific colleague to serve as the Second and/or Third Reader based on the topic or prior working relationship with that colleague; however, it remains the student’s ultimate responsibility to approach the Second and Third Readers. Readers should consult with the Thesis Director to ensure common understanding of project length, criteria for assessment, and other conditions and assumptions informing the project. The responsibilities of the Second and Third Readers include:

- Read and comment on a final or near-to-final draft of the thesis.
- Participate actively in the students’ thesis defense.
- Advise the Thesis Director concerning assignment of final grade for project, if input is requested by the director.
- Participate in program assessment, when requested.
The Thesis Committee

After an approved Thesis Proposal and enrollment in ENG 597B: MA Thesis or ENG 597A: MFA Thesis, the Thesis Committee Form must be submitted to the online submission form within the first three to four weeks of the semester during which the student is enrolled in thesis.

Online Submission Form: https://forms.gle/mnjRHfJSbZPZKWZ2A

In consultation with the Thesis Director, Department Chair, and/or Program Director, the student should request two additional faculty members to serve on their thesis committee. All three committee members must sign the form agreeing to serve on the Thesis Committee. The committee will consist of the Thesis Director, the Second Reader, and the Third Reader.

An MA Thesis Director should come from the full-time literature or rhetoric faculty. An MFA Thesis Director should come from the full-time creative writing faculty.

The Second Reader and Third Reader may be any member of the full-time English faculty or, with permission of the Thesis Director and the Chair of English, a full-time faculty member of another department. No faculty member should serve as a member on more than six committees in a single semester; exceptions require approval by the Department Chair and Program Director.
The Thesis Defense

After the student has confirmed three committee members and submitted the Thesis Committee Form, the student should then ask the Senior Administrative Assistant in the Department of English to reserve a room for two hours for the defense.

The complete thesis must be submitted to all members of the committee at least two weeks prior the defense, unless all committee members negotiate a different time frame. Faculty on multiple committees may need additional time to prepare for closely scheduled defenses.

The Thesis Defense provides an opportunity for an in-depth discussion of the thesis, the research or craft decision-making that went into the thesis, and how the thesis relates to the scholarly or literary context in which it is situated.

The Thesis Director and committee members are each expected to prepare no fewer than three questions related to the work (the questions will not be given to the student in advance of the defense), plus a written commentary or marginal notes about the work that the candidate can retain. One of the primary purposes of the defense is to provide students with feedback on the thesis.

The Thesis Director must also complete the required assessment rubric and work with the student to complete the required Thesis Submission Checklist for library submission.

As time allows, the student may make changes to the defended thesis based on the committee’s suggestions. Some committees might require changes after the defense before approving the final thesis. While there is only minimal time between the defense and submission to the library, one of the primary purposes of the defense is to provide students with meaningful feedback on the thesis.

If the Thesis Director, committee members, and/or student determine that the thesis is not yet ready for the defense, the student can enroll in a one-unit continuous enrollment class and defend the thesis during a subsequent semester. For more information, see the What If I Need More Time in the FAQ.
Submitting the Thesis

After a successful thesis defense, students are responsible for collecting their director’s and readers’ approval signatures for final submission. The thesis must be submitted to Leatherby Libraries, for the Chapman University Digital Commons. Students are required for degree conferral to submit an electronic copy of the thesis for inclusion in the Digital Commons.

You may find the instructions for submission, the required checklists, and the Deadlines for Completion of Library Requirements on the Library’s web page for thesis submission guidelines.

https://chapman.libguides.com/dissertations

The Dissertations and Theses Librarian supports all graduate students in the submission of their theses to Leatherby Libraries. You may contact the librarian in-person at Leatherby Libraries or via email with questions or for help.

Students submitting an MFA thesis are encouraged to restrict access to their thesis in Digital Commons and should consult Chapman University’s Digital Commons FAQ.
Thesis Deadlines

While enrolled in your thesis course and writing, drafting, and revising your thesis and scheduling the Thesis Defense, it is imperative to keep in mind two important university deadlines.

These deadlines can be found each term on the Vice Provost for Graduate Education’s website: https://www.chapman.edu/academics/graduate-education/current-students/index.aspx

Deadline 1: Thesis Defense

MFA in Creative Writing: November 18 for Fall term Defenses, April 18 for Spring term Defenses

MA in English: Students should adhere to the Vice Provost for Graduate Education’s deadline for Defenses.

As per Graduate Catalog policy, students must successfully defend their thesis prior to commencement to participate in May commencement ceremonies.

Deadline 2: Library Submission

It is recommended that you submit well ahead of this deadline to allow for library processing times (approximately 2-5 business days) and in case any corrections need to be made to your manuscript.

Please note that this deadline is for completing all requirements in the correct format, and not just for the initial submission to the library.

As per Graduate Catalog policy, students must successfully submit their thesis projects to the library in order to complete the degree requirements.

When university deadlines are not met, degree conferral can be delayed.
Student Scholarly/Creative Grants and Conference Travel Grants

In line with Chapman University’s commitment to the scholarly and creative activities of its graduate students, Scholarly/Creative Activity Grants and Conference Travel Grants are offered on a competitive basis to all current graduate students. Graduate Student Scholarly/Creative Activity Grants are intended to provide support for a variety of clearly defined scholarly or creative projects. Graduate Student Conference Travel Grants are intended to provide support for graduate students to travel to academic conferences or other professional venues for presenting one’s original work.

Scholarly/Creative Activity Grants require a proposal, a budget, and a letter of support from the faculty who is mentoring the project. The deadline for submitting SCA grant applications is rolling; applications can be submitted at any time prior to beginning the funded work. There is no per-student limit on the number of scholarly/creative projects Wilkinson College of Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences will fund as long as the awards do not exceed the $1000 yearly cap per student. However, given multiple strong proposals and limited program budgets, priority will be given to applicants who have received the least prior funding.

Students are encouraged to apply as early as possible and can apply before booking travel.

To apply for a Scholarly/Creative Activity Grant or Conference Travel Grant, or for more information about the Graduate Student Grant program, the expenditure of grant funds, and the submission of reimbursement requests, please contact the Wilkinson College Graduate Programs Coordinator.
Graduate Student Employment Opportunities

Graduate Student Teaching Assistantships

All currently enrolled graduate students in the English Department at Chapman University are eligible for consideration to work as paid Graduate Teaching Assistants (GTAs) in order to gain teaching experience. A GTA assists a faculty member in teaching a specific class. GTA responsibilities typically include helping the faculty member prepare materials for the course, assisting with classroom activities, assisting with grading, and conferencing with students. The GTA may also be asked to lead some class discussions. Graduate students who are interested in working as a GTA should contact a faculty member they are interested in working with to find out if the faculty member plans to hire a GTA. The faculty member should then contact the Chair of the Department of English to request approval for the GTA. GTA positions are dependent on budget, and a limited number are available each semester.

Graduate Student Instructors

All graduate students in the English Department at Chapman University are eligible to apply to participate in the Department’s popular and competitive Graduate Student Instructor (GSI) program. Selected graduate students develop valuable experience teaching composition in a theoretically informed and supportive environment, especially useful for those who wish to pursue teaching careers at community colleges or four-year universities and/or who wish to continue on to PhD programs.

GSIs commit to teaching one section of ENG 103: Seminar in Rhetoric and Writing for the fall semester and are paid instructors of record, developing their own curriculum, teaching the class on their own, and providing feedback and final grades to their students. All ENG 103 instructors have latitude to develop a course based on their talents and interests.

To be eligible for the GSI program, a student must have completed or be enrolled in ENG 580: Teaching Composition (offered Spring semester), apply at the end of Spring semester in response to the call for GSI applications, and be students in the English MA, MFA, or Dual programs during the Fall semester in which they teach.

Selected GSIs must enroll in ENG 582: Composition Pedagogy and Research Practicum concurrently with teaching; this seminar provides support for classroom instruction and shows GSIs how to engage in continued professional development as composition teachers.

For more information about the GSI program, contact Dr. Lynda Hall, Chair of the Department of English (lhall@chapman.edu), Professor Morgan Read-Davidson, Director of Undergraduate Writing (readdavi@chapman.edu), or Dr. Ian Barnard, Professor of Rhetoric and Composition (barnard@chapman.edu).
Graduate Writing Assistantships

All graduate students in the Department of English at Chapman University are eligible to apply for the Graduate Writing Assistantship (GWA) program. GWAs commit to supporting graduate students across the university through individual and small-group tutoring sessions, both in person and virtually.

Tutoring focuses on both the rhetorical and technical conventions of scholarly and creative writing in specific disciplines, across campuses; individual tutors will work within one or more disciplines based on their skills and additional training. Particular emphasis is on the conventions of form and genre in thesis- and dissertation-level writing. Tutors are required to participate in training workshops and are supervised by the Director of the Writing Center and the Vice Provost for Graduate Education.

GWAs are scheduled for 9–10 hours/week either for spring/summer/fall trimesters at the Rinker campus or for fall/spring semesters at the Orange campus. These appointments are on stipend for one semester, with possibility of reappointment based on available funding and performance. GWAs work in conjunction with the Writing Center and must complete training in writing coaching, which may include coursework.

For more information about the GWA program, contact Dr. Sarah Robblee, Director of the Writing Center and faculty supervisor for the GWA program (sasmith@chapman.edu).

Graduate Program & Project Assistantships

Each semester, a limited number of Graduate Program or Project Assistantships are available. These positions are assigned to the MFA or MA program or to specific faculty members to support research projects, program administration, event series, or other work. Graduate Program and Project Assistants typically work 8-10 hours per week and are paid an hourly rate.

To be considered for these positions, students must complete an application. These positions are usually available at the start of the semester, but positions sometimes become available at other times. If interested, check for available positions by contacting the Program Director, the Chair of the Department of English, or the online student jobs listing.
Writing Center Tutors

Each semester Chapman’s Writing Center hires graduate students to assist Chapman students with all aspects of the writing process. Writing Center tutors are paid at an hourly rate. Graduate students who have successfully completed ENG 581: The Theory and Practice of Writing Tutoring and Conferencing have priority in the application process. For more information, please contact Jamie Campbell, Director of the Writing Center, at jcAMPbell@chapman.edu.

Additional Employment Opportunities

Additional hourly student work opportunities are posted online through the student employment office website. Positions are typically posted a couple weeks before the start of each semester but may become available at other times.
The John Fowles Center for Creative Writing is the brainchild of Dr. Mark Axelrod-Sokolov, who serves as its director. Well into its second decade, the John Fowles Center for Creative Writing has not only become a Chapman University institution but has also gained regional, national, and international notoriety and has become a draw for students and community alike. The Fowles Center also collaborates with the Institute for Italian Culture, Los Angeles, to bring prominent Italian authors to Chapman on an annual basis.

More information on the John Fowles Center can be found on the John Fowles Center for Creative Writing website.

John Fowles Reading Series

Every spring, the John Fowles Center brings to campus distinguished writers from around the world to read their work and promote student writing. Some of the writers who have been hosted on campus include John Ashbery, Willis Barnstone, Gioconda Belli, Charles Bernstein, Giuseppe Conte, Hiben Conteris, Lawrence Ferlinghetti, Elizabeth George, Zulfikar Ghose, Steve Katz, Claudio Magris, Dacia Maraini, Larry McCaffery, Alicia Partnoy, Giorgio Pressburger, Salman Rushdie, Luisa Valenzuela, Karen Yamashita, and Raúl Zurita.

Mantissa: The Journal of the John Fowles Center for Creative Writing

Mantissa: The Journal of the John Fowles Center is a multidisciplinary academic journal devoted to Fowles studies which includes, but is not limited to, fiction, creative nonfiction, and film. The primary goal of the journal is to bridge various branches of Fowles studies in a dynamic and intellectually creative environment. The editorial board hopes to stimulate dialogue among international schools of thought as well as to coordinate initiatives related to the field of Fowles studies.
Literary Pub(lishing) Crawl

Started by Prof. Jim Blaylock and Dr. Douglas Dechow in 2010, the annual Literary Pub(lishing) Crawl occurs in April as a complement to the Aspects of a Writer course. This day of events brings together published writers, editors and publishers, and Chapman MFA alums to talk about the practicalities of publishing, jobs and careers, and sustaining a writing life after graduation.

In 2022, as part of its ongoing collaboration with the MFA program and Pub(lishing) Crawl, Leatherby Libraries acquired a Short Story Dispenser for the campus community. The 2022 Pub(lishing) Crawl was combined with The Conference on the American Short Story to bring creative writers and literary scholars into conversation across generations.
Tabula Poetica: The Center for Poetry

Established in 2009, Tabula Poetica: The Center for Poetry at Chapman University is dedicated to celebrating poetry. Tabula Poetica fosters a culture of poetry appreciation by engaging and supporting the veteran writer, the novice poet, the student, and the general reader in an effort to share poems and conversation about this varied art form.

Tabula Poetica encompasses a reading and lecture series and houses TAB: The Journal of Poetry & Poetics. Other Tabula Poetica projects have included selecting finalists for the California Coastal Commission K-12 Poetry Contest, participation in Santa Ana’s Boca de Oro, an interactive poetry and musical performance at the Hilbert Museum of California Art, and Chapman Poetry Week in April 2011. Tabula Poetica is a collaborative and evolving endeavor built on the interests and involvement of faculty, students, and the wider poetry community.

For more information, contact Dr. Anna Leahy (leahy@chapman.edu) or visit the Tabula Poetica website.

Tabula Poetica Reading Series

Each fall, Tabula Poetica hosts a series of public poetry talks and readings connected with the Aspects of a Writer class and undergraduate and graduate poetry classes. This series has featured poets such as Rae Armantrout, Victoria Chang, Carolyn Forché, Allison Joseph, Ilya Kaminsky, Ada Limon, Ruben Quesada, Alan Shapiro, Lynne Thompson, and C. K. Williams, among others. The series concludes with the MFA Poetry Reading.

Tab Journal

Founded collaboratively in 2013 by writer Anna Leahy and designer Claudine Jaenichen, Tab Journal is an international poetry periodical with a print issue in January followed by online issues in March, May, July, September, and November. The tagline “space before text” announces that design of both text and space creates various poetry reading experiences and that inclusive experiences begin with design—of policies, of practices, of pages, of poems.

Tab Journal welcomes submissions of poems from established and emerging poets as well as critical essays, creative nonfiction, interviews, and reviews that focus on poetry. Recent contributors include Sandra Alcosser, Karen An-hwei Lee, Traci Brimhall, Lauren Camp, Oliver Keith S. Wilson, Cecilia Woloch, and Sholeh Wolpe. Tab Journal reaches an audience of poets, poetry readers and appreciators, poetry scholars and critics, and students of poetry.

MFA students and alums who have completed a poetry-writing course are eligible to serve on the journal staff as book reviewers, readers of submissions, and communications roles, including Tab Musings blog. While current MFA students and journal staff cannot submit creative work, alums, former faculty, and former staff are welcome to submit creative work three years after completing their degree or other affiliation with the university.

Tab Journal has been awarded grants by the Poetry Foundation and Chapman University and is distributed at no charge to readers online and at the AWP Conference, area literary festivals, and campus events as well as the mailing list for the print issue.

For more information about Tab Journal, visit the Tab Journal website or contact Dr. Anna Leahy.
Calliope

The student literary magazine of Chapman University welcomes submissions from graduate students and also participation in the editorial selection process. The magazine is published twice each year under the sponsorship of the English Department and is an entirely student-run publication.

Applications for the editorial board are typically processed in April for the upcoming academic year. An open call for submissions is typically held in September and October for the fall issue and in February and March for the spring issue. Calliope publishes poetry, short fiction, nonfiction, and art exclusively from enrolled Chapman undergraduate and graduate students. Students interested in working on Calliope should contact Prof. Brian Glaser at bglaser@chapman.edu.

Iluminación Writing Program

The Iluminación Writing Program builds collaborative partnerships between Chapman University students and the community, including local area high school students. Through ongoing writing workshops, the program works to address the gap between high school and college writing, demystify the college experience, and connect Chapman University participants to our vibrant local communities through collaboration. Graduate students are given opportunities to design and teach writing workshops at the Recovery Education Institute in Orange. For more information, please contact the Director of Iluminación, Professor Morgan Read-Davidson (readdavi@chapman.edu).

Orange High School Literacies Program

MA, MFA, and Dual students are encouraged to work as writing mentors in the Chapman University-Orange High School Literacies Partnership. This collaboration, created by Dr. Jan Osborn, is an opportunity to work with high school students to develop their creative writing while also developing teaching skills that may be helpful after finishing a graduate degree. The program culminates with a celebratory reading in which the high school students read the work they’ve generated. Interested students should contact Professor Jan Osborn at josborn@chapman.edu.
Sigma Tau Delta

Graduate students with a GPA of 3.0 or higher are eligible to become members of Alpha Zeta Iota, Chapman’s chapter of Sigma Tau Delta, the international English honor society. Recent chapter activities have included creative writing workshops, meet-and-greet gatherings with the faculty, sponsorship of a campus visit by the screenwriter Andrew Davies, and a regional conference. Members are eligible to apply for university funding to attend the society’s annual national convention, and they may submit to the organization’s critical journal (Sigma Tau Delta Review) and literary magazine (The Rectangle).

As noted on the national Sigma Tau Delta webpage, the Society strives to:

- Confer distinction for high achievement in English language and literature in undergraduate, graduate, and professional studies.
- Provide, through its local chapters, cultural stimulation on college campuses and promote interest in literature and the English language in surrounding communities.
- Foster all aspects of the discipline of English, including literature, language, and writing.
- Promote exemplary character and good fellowship among its members.
- Exhibit high standards of academic excellence.
- Serve society by fostering literacy.

There is an induction dinner for new members each semester. For information about membership in Chapman’s chapter, contact Prof. Mildred Lewis (milewis@chapman.edu).
Frequently Asked Questions

Where is the Department of English located, and when is it open?
The Department of English is located in Smith Hall, Suite 204. The office is typically open Monday through Friday from 8:00 AM to 5:00 PM.

If I need to drop something off for a faculty member, where are the faculty mail boxes?
Faculty mailboxes are located in the Department of English office, Smith Hall 204.

I’m an international student. Are there academic policies specific to international students?
The International Student Services office provides support to international students and visiting scholars in matters related to their non-immigrant status by complying with immigration rules and federal regulations. The office is located at 576 N. Glassell Street and can be reached at (714)744-2110.

What should I do to make sure I’m on track to graduate?
Use the Program Evaluation on the Student Center Service Portal to plan your courses. Review your Program Evaluation on a regular basis. Prior to the semester in which you will complete your degree requirements, use the Student Center Self Service Portal to fill out and submit an Application for Degree Conferral.

Who is my advisor?
The Department Chair and Program Directors are the official advisors for graduate students. All other members of the graduate core faculty can provide additional mentoring on intellectual and professional pursuits. The Thesis Director also provides individualized guidance.

The course requirements have changed since I arrived. Which requirements do I need to fulfill?
The set of requirements you need to fulfill is determined by the Graduate Catalog of the year you enrolled. Your My Chapman Self Service Portal Program Evaluation will indicate the appropriate catalog year when you view it as a PDF. The graduate catalogs can be accessed online.

May I switch to the requirements of a newer catalog?
You may switch to a newer catalog by filling out the Change of Major form, available on the Office of the University Registrar website and submitting it to the Program Director for signature.
Why won’t The Student Center Service Portal allow me to enroll in a course?
My Chapman Self Service Portal blocks registration when a class has reached its enrollment limit, when prerequisites have not been met, when a business hold is in place, or when enrollment requires faculty approval (e.g., thesis writing courses). Enrollment limits and prerequisites may be waived in specific situations, if the professor feels it is warranted. In these cases, you need to secure the professor’s consent to enroll, and contact the Graduate Programs Coordinator. Business holds need to be resolved with the Student Business Services Office.

I’m an accelerated student in the MA program. How do I register for graduate courses during my senior year of undergraduate studies?
Please use the Undergraduate Request to Register for Graduate Course Form.

How do I add a course that has been closed in the Student Center?
Once the semester begins, the student center blocks enrollment in all courses that have reached their enrollment caps, even if seats are subsequently freed up. To add a course that has been closed and in which space has become available, you will need to secure the professor’s consent to enroll and contact the Graduate Programs Coordinator.

How do I develop and register for an Individual Study course?
If you wish to do an Individual Study course with a member of the graduate faculty, you should contact that faculty member directly to discuss the possibility. Once you and a faculty member have agreed on an Independent Study course, you and the instructor will need to fill out the Individual Study and Research Form and develop a course description, course learning outcomes, graded assignments, a proposed schedule of meetings, and a statement of how the course supports your thesis project. These materials must be submitted to the Chair of the English Department and the Program Director for approval. Opportunities for individual Study are limited and require approval to count toward degree requirements. If the proposal is approved, you then submit the documents to the Office of the Registrar. The Department Course Subject is ENG, the course number 599.

Is it possible to substitute another course for a required course?
Substitutions are allowed only when there is a compelling reason why the required course cannot be taken, why the substituted course would be of greater benefit to the student, or how the course supports preparation for the thesis project. Substituted courses should be comparable in rigor and content to the required course. To request consideration of a substitution of one course for another, please contact the Chair of the Department of English and the Program Director.

What is the policy for receiving an Incomplete?
According to university policy, incompletes can be recorded by the instructor only if extenuating circumstances prevent a student from completing a small portion of the assigned coursework. Please see the Academic Policy for Grades/GPA/Incompletes for more information.
What if I need to take a leave of absence?
A student can take a one-semester leave without making a formal request. The student should inform the Program Director and the Graduate Programs Coordinator.

If you need to interrupt progress toward your degree for more than one semester, a leave of absence may be granted. Leaves of absence can be granted for one year, with a possible renewal of one additional year. To apply for a leave of absence, the student must fill out and submit a Graduate Petition form, as well as a written statement spelling out the reasons for the leave and bearing the signatures of the Program Director and an Associate Dean of Wilkinson College (which the Graduate Programs Coordinator can assist with). If interrupting enrollment before the end of the academic term, the student must also follow the steps to withdraw from courses. A leave of absence cannot be approved retroactively.

If a student leaves the university in good standing and is gone more than four consecutive semesters, the student will not need to re-apply, may re-enroll for classes at Chapman, and will be assigned the catalog requirements in effect at the time the student returns to Chapman. Students may request to return to their original catalog, and that request will be reviewed and decided upon by the Department or School; decision by the departments or School is final.

Any graduate student who has broken enrollment for a period of more than one semester (interterm and summer sessions do not constitute a semester) without receiving an approved Leave of Absence is required to request re-enrollment through the Department. The student is held to the degree requirements in effect at the time of return unless approved for the original catalog year requirements by the Program Director or Associate Dean.

Note that graduate students must complete their degree requirements within seven years of first matriculating. Leaves of absence do not suspend or extend this seven-year clock.
For more information about interrupting enrollment, see the Interrupted Enrollment guidelines.

Can I receive transfer credit for coursework taken during a leave of absence?
In some cases, transfer credit may be awarded. To request transfer credit, you must provide transcripts to the Registrar’s Office prior to re-enrollment. Please note unsatisfactory performance may nullify re-enrollment.
What if I need more time to complete my thesis after finishing my coursework?
Students who need extra time to finish the thesis may continue working on their thesis by enrolling in ENG 597A (MA) or ENG 598A (MFA) Thesis II for 1 credit for each additional semester of thesis work. The continuous enrollment course allows students to remain in active status and retain access to university resources. Students electing not to enroll in the continuous enrollment course will lose active status, library privileges, and access to other university resources (including ongoing meetings with the Thesis Director) unless they make special arrangements with the Chair of the Department of English and Associate Dean. Whether active or inactive, however, no student may take longer than seven years from the time of first enrollment to complete all the requirements for their degree.

What if I file an Application for Degree Conferral but become unable to finish in time?
If you have applied for your degree and will not be able to complete some aspect of your program (e.g., coursework, thesis), you need to send an email to conferral@chapman.edu and request that your graduation date be moved to a later academic term.

When are graduation exercises?
The schedule of commencement ceremonies and events schedule is available online on the graduation home page.

How do I buy academic regalia for graduation?
